Mitchell Says Jobless Trend Is Slackening

Optimistic Despite 300,000 Employment Drop In February

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The Labor Department today reported non-farm employment dropped by 300,000 in February but showed a slackening in the jobless trend.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said February factory employment declined by 150,000 from January. He said non-manufacturing employment, although also down 150,000, was at a record high for this season.

"The employment downtrend of the past year continued through February but with signs of slowing down in the rate of decline," Mitchell said in a statement.

Claims Taper Off

He said unemployment measured by claims for compensation insurance rose in February. Toward the end of the month, however, the rate of new claims was falling off "by more than the usual," he said.

Non-farm employment is estimated each month by the Labor Department's statistics bureau. The survey, based on employer reports, excludes farm workers, the self employed, domestic servants and unpaid family workers.

The 300,000 decline in non-farm employment indicated the Census Bureau's report on all February employment would show an increase over the 3,087,000 jobless reported for January. The February employment report is due in a day or so.

900,000 Off Last Year

The Labor Department estimated non-farm employment in February at 47½ million, about 900,000 lower than a year ago. All industry groups, except paper and printing, showed some drop in employment for the year.

The reported winter jobless increase was largely centered in manufacturing or factories. Most of the decline was in durable goods manufacturing, particularly transportation equipment like automobiles.

Sen. Symington, McCarthy Clash

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP) — Televised remarks by a senator about results of the Senate Investigations subcommittee's search for Communists brought on a sharp clash today between Sens. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Symington (D-Mo).

McCarthy accused the senator, whom he did not name, of using the term "warmed over" Communists in describing the committee's work, and said "I don't like to have senators going out and misrepresenting facts."

The powerful voices of both McCarthy and Symington sounded out at the same time and McCarthy banged an ash tray on the table to add to the din at one point when Symington was heard to say that "I'm sure Sen. Jackson would defend himself."

McCarthy is chairman and Symington and Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) are members of the subcommittee. The exchange took place during a hearing which Jackson did not attend.

Jackson later made public excerpts from the CBS TV program Man of the Week on which he appeared last Sunday and he said these "completely refuted" McCarthy's statement at the hearing.

Father, Five Children Die When Home Burns

LA JUNTA, Colo., March 10 (AP)—A father and five of his six children were burned to death in a fire at their home near here early today.

Victims were identified as Carl Bangert, 36, World War II veteran; Sharon, 7; Robert, 5; Leonard, 3; Carl Jr., 2; and Russell, 11 months.

Tear Gas, Fire Hoses Subdue 18 Rioting Felons

CHICAGO, March 10 (AP)—Tear gas and fire hoses subdued 18 shouting, cursing prisoners tonight after they had rioted for six hours in the Cook County jail.

"We've had enough, we've had enough," one of the felons shouted from the large day room where they had barricaded themselves.

That shout of surrender came after more than 50 tear gas bombs had been lobbed into the day room—its windows long since broken—and firemen had poured tons of water into it from high pressure hoses.

Guards wearing gas masks and holding shields like medieval knights, moved in and hauled the prisoners — including one man under sentence to death — from the room.

Prisoners Smash Windows

Many of the demonstrators were awaiting trial on federal charges of robbery. The ringleaders shouted complaints that other prisoners held on state charges had been getting better treatment.

Guards first tried to quell the demonstration with hoses. However, a prisoner grabbed a protruding hose nozzle, twisted it off and smashed it against a plate glass. The glass splinters cut three guards, none seriously.

Then tear gas was ordered. The prisoners smashed out windows of the third floor day room and the gas was quickly dispelled. The prisoners then jammed a mattress against the door to prevent more tear gas bombs from being tossed in.

No Food Or Water

As the siege, which started in late afternoon, lengthened into evening, Asst. Warden Rudolph H. Lee remarked grimly:

"I know one thing. We're not going to eat tonight."

Sheriff John Babb declared, "we're not going to bargain with them. They will get a diet of tear gas—no foods."

Guards reported the rioters also were without drinking water.

Eisenhower Says Adlai Stevenson Talks 'Nonsense'

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that by pointing up the "great danger" of "personal aggrandizement" and a split in the GOP, Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) has performed a service in a speech assailing Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Furthermore, Eisenhower told a news conference, CBS and NBC have met their responsibility for impartiality in giving the Republican party, instead of McCarthy, air time to answer attacks by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee. The Republicans have picked Vice President Nixon for the reply.

It was "nonsense," the President said, when Stevenson asserted in a speech at Miami Beach, Fla., Saturday night that the GOP is "half McCarthy and half Eisenhower."

McCarthy Insistent

McCarthy said tonight he still will insist on free time from CBS and NBC to reply to Stevenson. He told reporters he has a right to such time, but if Eisenhower "has a different position, he has a right to have it."

Flanders took the Senate floor yesterday — one of the first Republican senators to come right out and assail McCarthy by name —to say that "by intention or through ignorance" the Wisconsin senator was "doing his best to shatter" the GOP.

While saying there was much to praise as well as deplore in "McCarthyism," Flanders said McCarthy's Red hunts were sidetracking the nation from serious problems to a dangerous degree. The dangerous attack, he said, "is from without, not from within."

McCarthy, Flanders Joke

McCarthy saw Flanders in the Senate this afternoon and jokingly put both hands around his neck. Flanders jumped in his seat, then both senators laughed.

Eisenhower said he wasn't endorsing every word Flanders said, as he had heard only a bit of the speech reported on television.

Yet his salute to Flanders, his round-about attribution of personal aggrandizement to McCarthy, plus his approval of the way CBS and NBC propose to leave McCarthy out of the rebuttal to Stevenson, added up to perhaps the heaviest slap the President has taken at the controversial senator from Wisconsin.

7-Point Probe Code Offered By Senate GOP

Policy Committee Fails To Provide For Enforcement

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The Senate Republican policy committee today suggested a seven-point code for conducting committee investigations, but included no provision for enforcing it.

Six of the seven points provided for full committee or subcommittee action in initiating or carrying on investigations, and seemed to be aimed at elimination of one-man operations of the type frequently conducted by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). Among them was a suggested requirement that at least one majority member and one minority member be present at every hearing.

Ferguson Sidesteps

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), policy committee chairman, sidestepped questions on whether the suggestions were aimed at McCarthy, chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee. He also declined to say whether any pressure would be brought against any Republican committee head who ignores the suggestions.

The code, except for recommending that a witness may be accompanied and advised by counsel, said nothing about protecting a witness from what President Eisenhower called "disregard for the standards of fair play."

The President used that phrase last week in a formal news conference statement which specifically praised Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker. Secretary of the Army Stevens had accused McCarthy of abusing Zwicker during questioning about the Army's honorable discharge of, in McCarthy's words, "a Fifth Amendment Communist at Camp Kilmer, N. J."

"Minimum Rules"

Eisenhower said also that Congress must "see to it that its procedures are proper and fair," and that Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) had informed him "effective steps are being taken by the Republican leadership to set up codes of fair procedures."

Ferguson said the seven rules he recommended today "were regarded as the minimum rules and policies," selected from suggestions submitted by GOP senators. Many Senate committees already have these rules in force, he said, but "the practice has not been universal."

Eight-year-old James Francis Coffey, Jr., Malden., Mass., hands a letter from the draft board to his postman father for return to where it started. Jimmy was notified to tell the board why he didn't register for the draft within 30 days after he was "dicharged from the service" last month. Coffey, Sr., didn't deliver the notice, he has another route. Letter wasn't intended for him either, he has never been in the service.

Bill Approved 411 To 3 Faces Senate Action

Democratic Move For Deeper Slash Defeated 213-200

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP) — The House brushed aside Eisenhower administration opposition today and overwhelmingly passed the first general excise tax cut in more than 20 years.

The bill, sent to the Senate by a 411-3 roll call vote, would trim 912 million dollars a year from excise taxes on dozens of items like admission tickets, jewelry, furs and telephone bills.

The cuts would take effect April 1 — three weeks from tomorrow.

Defeated, by a 213-200 vote, was a Democratic move to free from all taxes any movie, sports or similar entertainment ticket costing 50 cents or less.

The bill would drop the excise tax on all admissions from 20 to 10 per cent.

It would postpone — for one year only — about $1,070,000,000 in reductions scheduled under present law for April 1 on liquor, cigarettes, automobiles, gas, trucks, buses, beer and wine.

Ike Opposed Reductions

President Eisenhower urged canceling these scheduled reductions, but argued the Treaury can not afford the sweeping tax cuts provided elsewhere in the bill. The administration has announced it will fight when the bill reaches the Senate to soften the revenue blow.

Eisenhower told his news conference today he will make a radio and television address next week outlining his tax philosophy. His press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said all major networks had been asked for 15 minutes of time next Monday night. No specific time was set.

This was interpreted as a move to bolster the administration's fight against a Democratic move to increase individual income tax exemptions by $100 for each taxpayer and each dependent.

That would save taxpayers about $2,400,000,000 a year, and drive the government that much more in the red. It would relieve millions of taxpayers with low incomes or large families from any income tax bill at all.

House Showdown Next Week

The issue threatens to bring one of the biggest and closest congressional battles of this congressional election year. The showdown in the House is scheduled next Wednesday and Thursday, when Democrats are expected to try writing the exemption increase into an 875-page general tax overhaul bill.

Republican leader Halleck of Indiana told the House the Republican-sponsored tax program for this year will provide reductions of $7,300,000,000 altogether. He said individuals would receive $4,700,000,000 of these benefits with the remainder going to corporations.

Democrats generally retorted that the overall revision program is loaded with "give-aways" to big business and wealthy stockholders, with only a pittance for the average taxpayer.

In the 411-3 passage of the excise tax cut bill, the three dissenters were all Democrats—Reps. Lyle of Texas, Paul C. Jones of Missouri and Marshall of Minnesota.

U. S. Issues Call For Hemisphere Economic Talks

CARACAS, Venezuela, March 10 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles today pledged U.S. economic cooperation with Latin America. This was underscored by an invitation for a hemisphere economic conference in Washington.

Latin American delegates at the 10th Inter-American Conference cheered the invitation to meet to work out answers to specific economic problems.

Support continued to grow, meanwhile, for Dulles' proposals for joint action to thwart Communist designs on the Western Hemisphere.

Conference Date Not Set

No date was set for the Washington conference. The invitation was conveyed by Samuel K. Waugh, assistant secretary of state for economic affairs. He joined Dulles in an explanation of U.S. economic policy toward Latin America before the conference's Economic Committee.

Dulles told the committee "the United States will not continue to be satisfied merely with good political relations in this hemisphere. We also want good economic relations. We shall seek them on a basis of mutual respect for the economic and social as well as the political beliefs of each other. That is the pledge I give you."

Dulles Not Offended

Dulles said he was not offended by the economic complaints directed against the United States at the conference, but added that solutions to economic problems are not as simple as they might appear.

He emphasized that the United States believes in a free enterprise economy with primary responsibility on private effort and that it would continue to depend upon individual effort and private capital for its economic development.

BOGOTA, Colombia, March 10 (AP)—Former King Leopold of Belgium arrived today from Panama with his wife and a group of friends for a two-week stay.

Ike Favors Two Statehood Bills

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower today put his support behind efforts of Senate Republican leaders to keep the Hawaiian and Alaska statehood bills separate.

The President told a news conference he sees no reason why each of the statehood bills can't be handled on its own merits—separately.

The Senate has agreed to a vote tomorrow on an amendment by Sen. Anderson (D-NM) backed almost solidly by Senate Democrats, to add Alaska to the pending Hawaiian statehood bill. Both sides predict a close vote.

Chairman Butler (R-Neb) of the Senate Interior Committee opposed the Anderson amendment in Senate debate today. He called it a "political trick."

"Why," he asked, "should Hawaii be held back until Alaska can also command sufficient support for statehood?"

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) countered that "there is no conceivable qualification that Alaska does not possess."

Prime Minister Churchill Under Pressure To Retire

LONDON, March 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill is under strong pressure to retire within the next few months.

His wife and doctors have joined in urging the old warrior to step down, persons in a position to know said today.

Some Conservative party stalwarts are saying that Churchill, 79, must turn over the helm soon to his heir-apparent, 56-year-old Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. They argue the voters must get used to Eden as Prime Minister if the Conservatives are to win the general elections to be held before October, 1956.

There is no expectation that Churchill will fight another election as Prime Minister.

Some officials are always grumbling privately that his insistence on shouldering all the burdens is not only too hard on him personally but slows down the urgent business of government.

But Lady Churchill, 68, has asked him to spend more time doing the things he loves—painting in the country, playing with his grandchildren and reminiscing over cigars and brandy with old cronies.

Churchill has also been confronted by the grave warnings of his physicians that the premiership is too much for any man in his 80th year. Even so, Churchill appears to be in relatively good health today despite his illness of a year ago, when doctors ordered him to rest.

There is speculation Churchill will hand in his resignation to Queen Elizabeth II after she returns from her Commonwealth tour in May.

Some say Churchill will keep his seat in Parliament after resigning and will make occasional speeches in the role of an elder statesman.

McCarthy Plans Reply To Attacks On Radio Tonight

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) announced tonight he will appear on commentator Fulton Lewis' radio show over the Mutual network tomorrow night to deliver "partial" answers to attacks on him by Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Flanders (R-Vt).

McCarthy said he expects the 15-minute program to be a "question and answer —mostly answer" affair. He said he will reply to Stevenson's address of last Saturday and Flanders' Senate speech yesterday.

McCarthy told reporters he also may accept an offer by Edward Murrow of 30 minutes' free time on the Murrow television show on CBS to answer statements made about him by Murrow last night.

Conant Says Russia Wants All Germany

BONN, Germany, March 10 (AP)—U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant told the German people tonight the Soviet attitude at the Berlin conference should convince "even the most naive" that Moscow wants to grab all of Germany.

"That Germany is a part—and indeed a very important part—of the West is something the Kremlin apparently does not want to believe," Conant said in a radio address.

Speaking in German, Conant said Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov "systematically expressed the true Kremlin policies" at the conference of the Big Four foreign ministers.

The Soviets did not—at least not now—want to give up anything they now have in their hands.

Ships Stay Away From New York

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP) — A longshoremen's wildcat strike paralyzed Manhattan's waterfront for the sixth day today, causing a number of inbound ships to take their business to other ports.

Other ships remained tied up here, with their loading or unloading halted.

The dock workers stayed off the job despite an appeal from William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Assn., independent, to return to work.

They also defied a federal court order restraining them from striking, pending contempt of court proceedings brought by the National Labor Relations Board.

The walkout stemmed from ILA rivalry with an American Federation of Labor union of the same name for control of the waterfront.

President To Speak At Columbia May 31

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower today accepted an invitation to speak in New York May 31 at a pre-convocation dinner sponsored by Columbia University.

The invitation was extended by Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of the university, the post Eisenhower held until he was elected to the White House.

The dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel will be part of the 200th anniversary ceremonies marking the founding of Columbia.

U. S. Won't Wage War Without Congress Approval, Ike Says

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today the massive military might America has poised for instant use will never go to war without prior congressional approval.

Eisenhower said that was his answer to a news conference question about what the United States would do if an American technician is killed or captured in Indo-china.

He said he wanted it clearly understood. Later, he authorized direct quotation of his exact words.

Drumming on the table before him and stamping his foot, the President asserted he is as concerned about the country's security as any person alive.

"I am doing nothing in the security departments that I don't believe is for the welfare and the security and the continued safety of the United States of America," Eisenhower asserted, adding:

"And I am not going to demagogue about it."

That came in reply to a request for comment on a speech last Saturday night by Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee Eisenhower defeated in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Stevenson had questioned whether the military "new look" left the nation with "the grim choice of inaction or a thermonuclear holocaust."

Eisenhower said there has been no change — none at all — in procedures of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the nation's top military strategy body.

Asked what this country would do if one of the U.S. Air Force technicians helping the French in Indochina were captured or killed by the Communist guerrillas, the President replied:

"There is going to be no involvement of America in war unless it is a result of the constitutional process that is placed upon Congress to declare it. Now, let us have that clear. And that is the answer."

Capitol Guards Reinforced After Threat By Phone

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The guard force at the Capitol was hurriedly reinforced today after an anonymous telephoned warning that "trouble" was about to break out.

There were reports a threat had been made to "shoot up the Senate" as the House was shot up March 1 by Puerto Rican fanatics.

William Bonsell, House sergeant at arms, told reporters the FBI had received a telephone call threatening "trouble." He said the caller hung up before the call could be traced.

"It probably came from some crackpot, but we can't take any chances," Bonsell said.

Dozens of extra men were rushed to the Capitol by the Washington city police force. The guard regularly on duty at the Capitol has been increased since the March 1 gunplay which wounded five House members.

Allied Strength Rules Out New War, Gruenther Says

PHILADELPHIA, March 10 (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, said tonight he is confident there will be no third world war because the decision is shifting to the United States.

Gen. Gruenther told the concluding session of the 8th annual Philadelphia Bulletin Forum that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations have achieved "a substantial posture of strength" in Europe, sufficient to provide a shield against "any hotheaded act."

NATO forces in Europe, he said, are now strong enough to stop the combined Soviet strength in the occupied countries and in addition to ground forces, Allied air power, primarily in the form of long-range B47s, is growing rapidly.

Allied planners are now working, Gruenther said, not on the basis of the requirements of the first 30 days of any war, but years in advance.

In the next three or four years, he continued, "we will have the potential of launching an attack by long and short-range aircraft, by guided missiles and by artillery." And he added "I'm talking about atomic weapons."

Earlier, Harold E. Stassen, chief of the Foreign Operations Administration, said the United States had chosen the role of senior partner in a voluntary union of free peoples "with no military strings attached."

Stassen said the principle would guide the U.S. delegation at the impending Geneva conference on Korea.

Curran Cleared In Raceway Deal

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP) — A special probe commission today cleared Republican Secretary of State Thomas J. Curran of any wrongdoing in a $10,000 Yonkers raceway legal deal.

The Moreland Act Commission investigating the scandal-ridden harness racing industry also absolved Curran of any taint of hidden ownership in the fabuously profitable Westchester County track.

"There was nothing illegal, unethical or improper . . . ," said a unanimous commission statement on Curran's conduct. Two of the four commissioners are Democrats.

It was the first time the five-months-old commission passed judgment on a political witness although a number of GOP state bigwigs have been mixed up in the 250 million-dollar-a-year harness track industry.

Curran, 55, had been on a hot spot since last week when he testified he collected $10,000 for introducing a Yonkers harness promoter to William F. Bleakley, Westchester County Republican leader. Bleakley had a race track to sell and Yonkers raceway wanted it.

Mitchell Says Jobless Trend Is Slackening

Optimistic Despite 300,000 Employment Drop In February

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The Labor Department today reported non-farm employment dropped by 300,000 in February but showed a slackening in the jobless trend.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said February factory employment declined by 150,000 from January. He said non-manufacturing employment, although also down 150,000, was at a record high for this season.

"The employment downtrend of the past year continued through February but with signs of slowing down in the rate of decline," Mitchell said in a statement.

Claims Taper Off

He said unemployment measured by claims for compensation insurance rose in February. Toward the end of the month, however, the rate of new claims was falling off "by more than the usual," he said.

Non-farm employment is estimated each month by the Labor Department's statistics bureau. The survey, based on employer reports, excludes farm workers, the self employed, domestic servants and unpaid family workers.

The 300,000 decline in non-farm employment indicated the Census Bureau's report on all February employment would show an increase over the 3,087,000 jobless reported for January. The February employment report is due in a day or so.

900,000 Off Last Year

The Labor Department estimated non-farm employment in February at 47½ million, about 900,000 lower than a year ago. All industry groups, except paper and printing, showed some drop in employment for the year.

The reported winter jobless increase was largely centered in manufacturing or factories. Most of the decline was in durable goods manufacturing, particularly transportation equipment like automobiles.

Churchill has also been confronted by the grave warnings of his physicians that the premiership is too much for any man in his 80th year. Even so, Churchill appears to be in relatively good health today despite his illness of a year ago, when doctors ordered him to rest.

There is speculation Churchill will hand in his resignation to Queen Elizabeth II after she returns from her Commonwealth tour in May.

Some say Churchill will keep his seat in Parliament after resigning and will make occasional speeches in the role of an elder statesman.

Eisenhower Says Adlai Stevenson Talks 'Nonsense'

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that by pointing up the "great danger" of "personal aggrandizement" and a split in the GOP, Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) has performed a service in a speech assailing Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Furthermore, Eisenhower told a news conference, CBS and NBC have met their responsibility for impartiality in giving the Republican party, instead of McCarthy, air time to answer attacks by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee. The Republicans have picked Vice President Nixon for the reply.

It was "nonsense," the President said, when Stevenson asserted in a speech at Miami Beach, Fla., Saturday night that the GOP is "half McCarthy and half Eisenhower."

McCarthy Insistent

McCarthy said tonight he still will insist on free time from CBS and NBC to reply to Stevenson. He told reporters he has a right to such time, but if Eisenhower "has a different position, he has a right to have it."

Flanders took the Senate floor yesterday — one of the first Republican senators to come right out and assail McCarthy by name —to say that "by intention or through ignorance" the Wisconsin senator was "doing his best to shatter" the GOP.

While saying there was much to praise as well as deplore in "McCarthyism," Flanders said McCarthy's Red hunts were sidetracking the nation from serious problems to a dangerous degree. The dangerous attack, he said, "is from without, not from within."

McCarthy, Flanders Joke

McCarthy saw Flanders in the Senate this afternoon and jokingly put both hands around his neck. Flanders jumped in his seat, then both senators laughed.

Eisenhower said he wasn't endorsing every word Flanders said, as he had heard only a bit of the speech reported on television.

Yet his salute to Flanders, his round-about attribution of personal aggrandizement to McCarthy, plus his approval of the way CBS and NBC propose to leave McCarthy out of the rebuttal to Stevenson, added up to perhaps the heaviest slap the President has taken at the controversial senator from Wisconsin.

McCarthy Plans Reply To Attacks On Radio Tonight

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) announced tonight he will appear on commentator Fulton Lewis' radio show over the Mutual network tomorrow night to deliver "partial" answers to attacks on him by Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Flanders (R-Vt).

McCarthy said he expects the 15-minute program to be a "question and answer —mostly answer" affair. He said he will reply to Stevenson's address of last Saturday and Flanders' Senate speech yesterday.

McCarthy told reporters he also may accept an offer by Edward Murrow of 30 minutes' free time on the Murrow television show on CBS to answer statements made about him by Murrow last night.

Conant Says Russia Wants All Germany

BONN, Germany, March 10 (AP)—U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant told the German people tonight the Soviet attitude at the Berlin conference should convince "even the most naive" that Moscow wants to grab all of Germany.

"That Germany is a part—and indeed a very important part—of the West is something the Kremlin apparently does not want to believe," Conant said in a radio address.

Speaking in German, Conant said Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov "systematically expressed the true Kremlin policies" at the conference of the Big Four foreign ministers.

The Soviets did not—at least not now—want to give up anything they now have in their hands.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., March 10 (AP)—Arthur Waldeman, 45-year-old executive of the U. S. Steel Co., died in the emergency treatment room at Gulfstream Park today after suffering a heart attack during the horse races.

7-Point Probe Code Offered By Senate GOP

Policy Committee Fails To Provide For Enforcement

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The Senate Republican policy committee today suggested a seven-point code for conducting committee investigations, but included no provision for enforcing it.

Six of the seven points provided for full committee or subcommittee action in initiating or carrying on investigations, and seemed to be aimed at elimination of one-man operations of the type frequently conducted by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). Among them was a suggested requirement that at least one majority member and one minority member be present at every hearing.

Ferguson Sidesteps

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), policy committee chairman, sidestepped questions on whether the suggestions were aimed at McCarthy, chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee. He also declined to say whether any pressure would be brought against any Republican committee head who ignores the suggestions.

The code, except for recommending that a witness may be accompanied and advised by counsel, said nothing about protecting a witness from what President Eisenhower called "disregard for the standards of fair play."

The President used that phrase last week in a formal news conference statement which specifically praised Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker. Secretary of the Army Stevens had accused McCarthy of abusing Zwicker during questioning about the Army's honorable discharge of, in McCarthy's words, "a Fifth Amendment Communist at Camp Kilmer, N. J."

"Minimum Rules"

Eisenhower said also that Congress must "see to it that its procedures are proper and fair," and that Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) had informed him "effective steps are being taken by the Republican leadership to set up codes of fair procedures."

Ferguson said the seven rules he recommended today "were regarded as the minimum rules and policies," selected from suggestions submitted by GOP senators. Many Senate committees already have these rules in force, he said, but "the practice has not been universal."

Ships Stay Away From New York

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP) — A longshoremen's wildcat strike paralyzed Manhattan's waterfront for the sixth day today, causing a number of inbound ships to take their business to other ports.

Other ships remained tied up here, with their loading or unloading halted.

The dock workers stayed off the job despite an appeal from William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Assn., independent, to return to work.

They also defied a federal court order restraining them from striking, pending contempt of court proceedings brought by the National Labor Relations Board.

The walkout stemmed from ILA rivalry with an American Federation of Labor union of the same name for control of the waterfront.

President To Speak At Columbia May 31

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower today accepted an invitation to speak in New York May 31 at a pre-convocation dinner sponsored by Columbia University.

The invitation was extended by Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of the university, the post Eisenhower held until he was elected to the White House.

The dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel will be part of the 200th anniversary ceremonies marking the founding of Columbia.

Eight-year-old James Francis Coffey, Jr., Malden., Mass., hands a letter from the draft board to his postman father for return to where it started. Jimmy was notified to tell the board why he didn't register for the draft within 30 days after he was "dicharged from the service" last month. Coffey, Sr., didn't deliver the notice, he has another route. Letter wasn't intended for him either, he has never been in the service.

U. S. Won't Wage War Without Congress Approval, Ike Says

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today the massive military might America has poised for instant use will never go to war without prior congressional approval.

Eisenhower said that was his answer to a news conference question about what the United States would do if an American technician is killed or captured in Indochina.

He said he wanted it clearly understood. Later, he authorized direct quotation of his exact words.

Drumming on the table before him and stamping his foot, the President asserted he is as concerned about the country's security as any person alive.

"I am doing nothing in the security departments that I don't believe is for the welfare and the security and the continued safety of the United States of America," Eisenhower asserted, adding:

"And I am not going to demagogue about it."

That came in reply to a request for comment on a speech last Saturday night by Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee Eisenhower defeated in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Stevenson had questioned whether the military "new look" left the nation with "the grim choice of inaction or a thermonuclear holocaust."

Eisenhower said there has been no change — none at all — in procedures of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the nation's top military strategy body.

Asked what this country would do if one of the U.S. Air Force technicians helping the French in Indochina were captured or killed by the Communist guerrillas, the President replied:

"There is going to be no involvement of America in war unless it is a result of the constitutional process that is placed upon Congress to declare it. Now, let us have that clear. And that is the answer."

Capitol Guards Reinforced After Threat By Phone

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The guard force at the Capitol was hurriedly reinforced today after an anonymous telephoned warning that "trouble" was about to break out.

There were reports a threat had been made to "shoot up the Senate" as the House was shot up March 1 by Puerto Rican fanatics.

William Bonsell, House sergeant at arms, told reporters the FBI had received a telephone call threatening "trouble." He said the caller hung up before the call could be traced.

"It probably came from some crackpot, but we can't take any chances," Bonsell said.

Dozens of extra men were rushed to the Capitol by the Washington city police force. The guard regularly on duty at the Capitol has been increased since the March 1 gunplay which wounded five House members.

Allied Strength Rules Out New War, Gruenther Says

PHILADELPHIA, March 10 (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, said tonight he is confident there will be no third world war because the decision is shifting to the United States.

Gen. Gruenther told the concluding session of the 8th annual Philadelphia Bulletin Forum that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations have achieved "a substantial posture of strength" in Europe, sufficient to provide a shield against "any hotheaded act."

NATO forces in Europe, he said, are now strong enough to stop the combined Soviet strength in the occupied countries and in addition to ground forces, Allied air power, primarily in the form of long-range B47s, is growing rapidly.

Allied planners are now working, Gruenther said, not on the basis of the requirements of the first 30 days of any war, but years in advance.

In the next three or four years, he continued, "we will have the potential of launching an attack by long and short-range aircraft, by guided missiles and by artillery." And he added "I'm talking about atomic weapons."

Earlier, Harold E. Stassen, chief of the Foreign Operations Administration, said the United States had chosen the role of senior partner in a voluntary union of free peoples "with no military strings attached."

Stassen said the principle would guide the U.S. delegation at the impending Geneva conference on Korea.

Democratic Move For Deeper Slash Defeated 213-200

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP) — The House brushed aside Eisenhower administration opposition today and overwhelmingly passed the first general excise tax cut in more than 20 years.

The bill, sent to the Senate by a 411-3 roll call vote, would trim 912 million dollars a year from excise taxes on dozens of items like admission tickets, jewelry, furs and telephone bills.

The cuts would take effect April 1 — three weeks from tomorrow.

Defeated, by a 213-200 vote, was a Democratic move to free from all taxes any movie, sports or similar entertainment ticket costing 50 cents or less.

The bill would drop the excise tax on all admissions from 20 to 10 per cent.

It would postpone — for one year only — about $1,070,000,000 in reductions scheduled under present law for April 1 on liquor, cigarettes, automobiles, gas, trucks, buses, beer and wine.

Ike Opposed Reductions

President Eisenhower urged canceling these scheduled reductions, but argued the Treaury can not afford the sweeping tax cuts provided elsewhere in the bill. The administration has announced it will fight when the bill reaches the Senate to soften the revenue blow.

Eisenhower told his news conference today he will make a radio and television address next week outlining his tax philosophy. His press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said all major networks had been asked for 15 minutes of time next Monday night. No specific time was set.

This was interpreted as a move to bolster the administration's fight against a Democratic move to increase individual income tax exemptions by $100 for each taxpayer and each dependent.

That would save taxpayers about $2,400,000,000 a year, and drive the government that much more in the red. It would relieve millions of taxpayers with low incomes or large families from any income tax bill at all.

House Showdown Next Week

The issue threatens to bring one of the biggest and closest congressional battles of this congressional election year. The showdown in the House is scheduled next Wednesday and Thursday, when Democrats are expected to try writing the exemption increase into an 875-page general tax overhaul bill.

Republican leader Halleck of Indiana told the House the Republican-sponsored tax program for this year will provide reductions of $7,300,000,000 altogether. He said individuals would receive $4,700,000,000 of these benefits with the remainder going to corporations.

Democrats generally retorted that the overall revision program is loaded with "give-aways" to big business and wealthy stockholders, with only a pittance for the average taxpayer.

In the 411-3 passage of the excise tax cut bill, the three dissenters were all Democrats—Reps. Lyle of Texas, Paul C. Jones of Missouri and Marshall of Minnesota.

Curran Cleared In Raceway Deal

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP) — A special probe commission today cleared Republican Secretary of State Thomas J. Curran of any wrongdoing in a $10,000 Yonkers raceway legal deal.

The Moreland Act Commission investigating the scandal-ridden harness racing industry also absolved Curran of any taint of hidden ownership in the fabuously profitable Westchester County track.

"There was nothing illegal, unethical or improper . . . ," said a unanimous commission statement on Curran's conduct. Two of the four commissioners are Democrats.

It was the first time the five-months-old commission passed judgment on a political witness although a number of GOP state bigwigs have been mixed up in the 250 million-dollar-a-year harness track industry.

Curran, 55, had been on a hot spot since last week when he testified he collected $10,000 for introducing a Yonkers harness promoter to William F. Bleakley, Westchester County Republican leader. Bleakley had a race track to sell and Yonkers raceway wanted it.

Not Pike Slayer, Wable Testifies

Admits He Was On Toll Road Night One Trucker Slain

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 10 (AP)—"I did not," emphatically declared youthful John Wesley Wable from the witness stand today when asked if he killed two truck drivers as they slept in their cabs on the Pennsylvania Turnpike last July.

Fighting for his life, the calm and soft-spoken Wable admitted he was on the turnpike the night Harry F. Pitts, 39, of Bowling Green, Va., was slain.

He flatly denied he was on the turnpike the night Lester B. Woodward, 39, of Duncannon, Pa., was killed.

He also repudiated a statement implicating himself in the killings which he gave to police shortly after his capture.

Wable admitted talking to a third truck driver, John K. Shepherd, 34, of West Alexander, Pa., a short while after the trucker was wounded in Ohio near the western end of the Pike.

A phantom killer murdered Pitts and Woodward and wounded Shepherd by firing bullets in their heads. Wable is on trial only for the Pitts killing although he is charged with slaying Woodward and wounding Sheperd. The State is seeking the death penalty for the 24-year-old Ohiopyle, Pa., man.

Police Seek Man Who Left Bride Minus $243,500

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Mar. 10 (AP)—State Police sent out a nationwide alert today for a man they charge flimflammed his elderly bride of $243,500 as the couple honeymooned through here last Thursday.

Charged with grand larceny is Percy William Herman, 49, a Floridian, address unknown, described by State Police as "a six-footer, clean-shaven and a neat and expensive dresser."

Herman last was seen at the wheel of a 1953 cream-colored Cadillac convertible with tangerine upholstery—the vehicle in which he and his bride, the former Mrs. Dyoll Haven, about 65, Palm Beach, Fla., were motoring northward.

Mrs. Herman entered a complaint with Stafford County Commonwealth's Atty. R. H. L. Chichester yesterday, charging her new husband had driven away and left her at a motor court on U. S. 1 about 14 miles north of here.

In the trunk of the car, Mrs. Herman said, was a 20-inch brown leather case containing $243,500 of her cash and a canvas bag containing her jewelry.

Grand Jury Defied By Puerto Rican

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—Julio Pinto Gandia, New York leader of the Puerto Rican Nationalist movement, today defied a federal grand jury investigating the mass shooting of five congressmen in Washington 10 days ago. He was given 24 hours to change his mind.

Gandia refused to answer 15 questions about the assassination attempt during a 90-minute session with the grand jury.

Taken before federal Judge Henry W. Goddard, Gandia was warned he would face contempt charges if he failed to answer the questions tomorrow.

Gandia pleaded "a gentleman's code of honor" in refusing to answer the questions, when he spoke to reporters outside the courtroom.

Knight, Former Employe Stage Drama In Court

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—In the witness chair was Philippe Louis Marie Charles de Bourbon, 33, soldier of fortune and international five per-center from Montevideo, Uruguay, and White Plains, N. Y.

At his side, fixing him with a steady glare and snapping questions, was Henry Lloyd Knight, 48, Washington attorney, dealer in airplane parts, and de Bourbon's former boss.

They played out a tense little drama today before a jury in Federal Court, where Knight is on trial on a charge he conspired to ship airplane parts through the Iron Curtain to Poland in 1949, June to November, in violation of the U.S. Neutrality Laws.

De Bourbon testified he helped arrange the deal and Knight directed it.

"He bawled me out once," De Bourbon said, "because I left some writing in Polish on one of the papers."

It came time for the cross-examination of De Bourbon.

Knight rose and requested permission to ask the questions himself, although he has two attorneys working on the case for him.

The government objected.

Judge W. Calvin Chesnut said he didn't think it was good idea. Knight's own attorneys didn't comment.

But Knight, who faces up to two years in prison and up to $10,000 fine if convicted, persisted.

"I know it is said a lawyer who appears for himself has a fool for a client," Knight told the judge. "I still feel I must conduct the cross-examination."

So Knight lit into De Bourbon.

He asked questions designed to show De Bourbon, while selling airplane parts on a 5 per cent commission in France for Knight's Air Union, Inc., of Bethesda, Md., had some illegitimate activities on the side.

De Bourbon acknowledged he attempted to do some business with the Egyptian government on British planes. He said there had been some talk about selling French planes and American engines in South America.

He denied ever telling Knight, however, that parts Air Union sold to SOFRADEX, a Paris firm, were to be resold for use on airlines in North Africa.

Knight contends this was his understanding when he got a State Department license in February of 1949 to sell $48,000 worth of airplane parts to SOFRADEX. He has accused De Bourbon of setting up the deal to divert them to LOT, the nationalized Polish Airline, without Knight's knowledge.

French Fire-Bomb Vietminh Stronghold

HANOI, Indochina, March 10 (AP)—The French fire-bombed a Vietminh stronghold and repelled numerous raids by the Communist-led rebels in the Red River delta of Northern Indochina, army headquarters said today. Another Vietnamese militia post fell to the rebels.

Planes dropped their fiery loads on Vietminh units entrenched in a village on Van Coc Island in the Red River 25 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Near Sontay, 35 miles northwest of Hanoi, the Vietminh succeeded in capturing another Vietnamese militia post. The Rebels have been staging a series of raids on small posts in the delta and these were reported continuing today.

Democrats Say They Fired As Many 'Risks' As GOP, Didn't Brag About It

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Democratic senators said today that the Truman administration got rid of unsuitable government employes as fast as the new Republican regime but did not brag about it.

Democrats on the Senate Civil Service Committee went into the figures as Civil Service Commission Chairman Philip Young made another appearance to explain the security risk separations listed by the Eisenhower administration.

Young said the Republicans dismissed government workers for unsuitability at an annual rate of about 17,000 in 1953.

Under questioning, he conceded that this firing rate was exceeded by the previous administration in some recent years.

In 1952, for instance, there were 25,494 such dismissals in the Truman administration. In 1950, the total was 9,229.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said the Democrats got rid of the employes without "trying to put a stigma on them" and without "trying to make a lot of headlines."

Young insisted that the new program is better than the loyalty program set up under former President Truman. He said it is less harsh to call a dismissed employe a security risk than to brand him disloyal.

Young offered the committee a new set of security risk figures—the fourth time he has revised them in the last 10 days.

He said the total of security risks separated from government jobs in the last seven months of 1953—Eisenhower's security order took effect May 27 last year—now has reached 2,486.

This was an increase of 59 over his last previous total.

He said 429 of the 2,486 had some subversive information in their files. This was an increase of seven.

Young said he could not say whether any of the 429 was a Communist or disloyal.

"Tired" Motorist Can Rest In Jail

DETROIT, March 10 (AP)—William Griffin was arraigned on a reckless driving charge today after his auto struck four parked cars and ran three red lights before police halted him.

"I've been working 16 hours a day and was just tired out," he told the court.

Traffic Judge George T. Murphy gave him 10 days in jail to rest.

Negro Sentenced To Die For Rape

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., March 10 (AP)—Samuel E. Floyd, 21-year-old Negro from Washington, was sentenced today to be hanged for raping and robbing a 26-year-old Prince Georges County white woman.

Circuit Judges James E. Boylan Jr. and James E. Clark imposed the sentence and set the execution for the week of April 18.

They convicted Floyd last Friday. They also denied a motion for a new trial today.

Judge Clark said the crime was "so cruel" that it called for the death penalty.

Floyd was convicted of holding up the unmarried woman at knife point near her home in Forrestville last July 7. She was going home from work as a radio operator at Washington National Airport. She was raped and robbed of $28.

Floyd was arrested the next day in Washington. The woman identified him as her assailant. An FBI expert testified at the trial that plaster casts of footprints at the scene of the crime matched Floyd's shoes.

Feminine Logic Scores In Court

DETROIT, March 10 (AP)—The power of feminine logic earned Mrs. Mary G. Talladay a suspended sentence today. Police ticketed her car after they had to move it from blocking a driveway last Jan. 27.

They gave her a towing ticket after they pushed the car out of harm's way.

Mrs. Talladay pressed that point today in her explanation to Traffic Referee Rollin D. Shull.

"You know as well as I do, your honor, that to tow a car means to pull it," she said. "And they pushed me. That is not towing," she asserted.

Shull suspended sentence.

Execution by burning was not abolished in England until about 1790.

Charged with grand larceny is Percy William Herman, 49, a Floridian, address unknown, described by State Police as "a six-footer, clean-shaven and a neat and expensive dresser."

Herman last was seen at the wheel of a 1953 cream-colored Cadillac convertible with tangerine upholstery—the vehicle in which he and his bride, the former Mrs. Dyoll Haven, about 65, Palm Beach, Fla., were motoring northward.

Mrs. Herman entered a complaint with Stafford County Commonwealth's Atty. R. H. L. Chichester yesterday, charging her new husband had driven away and left her at a motor court on U. S. 1 about 14 miles north of here.

In the trunk of the car, Mrs. Herman said, was a 20-inch brown leather case containing $243,500 of her cash and a canvas bag containing her jewelry.

Grand Jury Defied By Puerto Rican

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—Julio Pinto Gandia, New York leader of the Puerto Rican Nationalist movement, today defied a federal grand jury investigating the mass shooting of five congressmen in Washington 10 days ago. He was given 24 hours to change his mind.

Gandia refused to answer 15 questions about the assassination attempt during a 90-minute session with the grand jury.

Taken before federal Judge Henry W. Goddard, Gandia was warned he would face contempt charges if he failed to answer the questions tomorrow.

Gandia pleaded "a gentleman's code of honor" in refusing to answer the questions, when he spoke to reporters outside the courtroom.

Knight, Former Employe Stage Drama In Court

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—In the witness chair was Philippe Louis Marie Charles de Bourbon, 33, soldier of fortune and international five per-center from Montevideo, Uruguay, and White Plains, N. Y.

At his side, fixing him with a steady glare and snapping questions, was Henry Lloyd Knight, 48, Washington attorney, dealer in airplane parts, and de Bourbon's former boss.

They played out a tense little drama today before a jury in Federal Court, where Knight is on trial on a charge he conspired to ship airplane parts through the Iron Curtain to Poland in 1949, June to November, in violation of the U.S. Neutrality Laws.

De Bourbon testified he helped arrange the deal and Knight directed it.

"He bawled me out once," De Bourbon said, "because I left some writing in Polish on one of the papers."

It came time for the cross-examination of De Bourbon.

Knight rose and requested permission to ask the questions himself, although he has two attorneys working on the case for him.

The government objected.

Judge W. Calvin Chesnut said he didn't think it was good idea. Knight's own attorneys didn't comment.

But Knight, who faces up to two years in prison and up to $10,000 fine if convicted, persisted.

"I know it is said a lawyer who appears for himself has a fool for a client," Knight told the judge. "I still feel I must conduct the cross-examination."

So Knight lit into De Bourbon.

He asked questions designed to show De Bourbon, while selling airplane parts on a 5 per cent commission in France for Knight's Air Union, Inc., of Bethesda, Md., had some illegitimate activities on the side.

De Bourbon acknowledged he attempted to do some business with the Egyptian government on British planes. He said there had been some talk about selling French planes and American engines in South America.

He denied ever telling Knight, however, that parts Air Union sold to SOFRADEX, a Paris firm, were to be resold for use on airlines in North Africa.

Knight contends this was his understanding when he got a State Department license in February of 1949 to sell $48,000 worth of airplane parts to SOFRADEX. He has accused De Bourbon of setting up the deal to divert them to LOT, the nationalized Polish Airline, without Knight's knowledge.

French Fire-Bomb Vietminh Stronghold

HANOI, Indochina, March 10 (AP)—The French fire-bombed a Vietminh stronghold and repelled numerous raids by the Communist-led rebels in the Red River delta of Northern Indochina, army headquarters said today. Another Vietnamese militia post fell to the rebels.

Planes dropped their fiery loads on Vietminh units entrenched in a village on Van Coc Island in the Red River 25 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Near Sontay, 35 miles northwest of Hanoi, the Vietminh succeeded in capturing another Vietnamese militia post. The Rebels have been staging a series of raids on small posts in the delta and these were reported continuing today.

Democrats Say They Fired As Many 'Risks' As GOP, Didn't Brag About It

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Democratic senators said today that the Truman administration got rid of unsuitable government employes as fast as the new Republican regime but did not brag about it.

Democrats on the Senate Civil Service Committee went into the figures as Civil Service Commission Chairman Philip Young made another appearance to explain the security risk separations listed by the Eisenhower administration.

Young said the Republicans dismissed government workers for unsuitability at an annual rate of about 17,000 in 1953.

Under questioning, he conceded that this firing rate was exceeded by the previous administration in some recent years.

In 1952, for instance, there were 25,494 such dismissals in the Truman administration. In 1950, the total was 9,229.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said the Democrats got rid of the employes without "trying to put a stigma on them" and without "trying to make a lot of headlines."

Young insisted that the new program is better than the loyalty program set up under former President Truman. He said it is less harsh to call a dismissed employe a security risk than to brand him disloyal.

Young offered the committee a new set of security risk figures—the fourth time he has revised them in the last 10 days.

He said the total of security risks separated from government jobs in the last seven months of 1953—Eisenhower's security order took effect May 27 last year—now has reached 2,486.

This was an increase of 59 over his last previous total.

He said 429 of the 2,486 had some subversive information in their files. This was an increase of seven.

Young said he could not say whether any of the 429 was a Communist or disloyal.

"Tired" Motorist Can Rest In Jail

DETROIT, March 10 (AP)—William Griffin was arraigned on a reckless driving charge today after his auto struck four parked cars and ran three red lights before police halted him.

"I've been working 16 hours a day and was just tired out," he told the court.

Traffic Judge George T. Murphy gave him 10 days in jail to rest.

Negro Sentenced To Die For Rape

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., March 10 (AP)—Samuel E. Floyd, 21-year-old Negro from Washington, was sentenced today to be hanged for raping and robbing a 26-year-old Prince Georges County white woman.

Circuit Judges James E. Boylan Jr. and James E. Clark imposed the sentence and set the execution for the week of April 18.

They convicted Floyd last Friday. They also denied a motion for a new trial today.

Judge Clark said the crime was "so cruel" that it called for the death penalty.

Floyd was convicted of holding up the unmarried woman at knife point near her home in Forrestville last July 7. She was going home from work as a radio operator at Washington National Airport. She was raped and robbed of $28.

Floyd was arrested the next day in Washington. The woman identified him as her assailant. An FBI expert testified at the trial that plaster casts of footprints at the scene of the crime matched Floyd's shoes.

Feminine Logic Scores In Court

DETROIT, March 10 (AP)—The power of feminine logic earned Mrs. Mary G. Talladay a suspended sentence today. Police ticketed her car after they had to move it from blocking a driveway last Jan. 27.

They gave her a towing ticket after they pushed the car out of harm's way.

Mrs. Talladay pressed that point today in her explanation to Traffic Referee Rollin D. Shull.

"You know as well as I do, your honor, that to tow a car means to pull it," she said. "And they pushed me. That is not towing," she asserted.

Shull suspended sentence.

Fears Of New Dust Bowl

With conditions ominously similar to those of the dust bowl era of two decades ago, farmers and agricultural officials of five plains states worry over the prospect of a repetition of those years.

With millions of acres of land across a broad southwestern area already reduced to dust and vast areas in danger, the consensus is that comparisons are less useful than measures for meeting the emergency.

Some spots are in more critical distress than others, with wide areas covered by dust inches thick, but the picture generally is the same across the entire area. A dry wind, blowing hard and steadily for days on end, is drying up the surface soil, lifting the powder, and driving it along like fine snow. The dust gives the wind more erosive power, so that the whole process gradually builds into a force which removes topsoil bodily.

Three years of subnormal rainfall have apparently lowered the subsurface water tables so that areas which are well grassed over are beginning to go. Showers and blizzards are providing only temporary relief.

Southeastern Colorado appears to be the hardest hit, with approximately 60 per cent of the wheat crop in eight counties a total loss. Damage is estimated at $15,000,000. In 15 counties in western Kansas more than 750,000 acres—one-third of the total acreage sown in wheat—has been blown out, and pasture land has suffered widespread damage.

In Texas nearly 700,000 acres have been moderately to severely damaged, and more than 3,000,000 additional acres are in danger. In Oklahoma the story is much the same.

Colorado's Governor Thornton feels that the dust conditions "will convince people that high prices guaranteed for wheat have been a mistake." His view is that the lure of a quick profit under the parity program led to turning up thousands of acres which should have been left in grass. Involved, also, is the problem of declining water tables everywhere. Meanwhile the remainder of the nation can eye its precious topsoil with a little more interest. It is never really missed until it blows away.

Making Money Faster

Everybody would like to make more money. The Horatio Alger instinct has not died out altogether.

Nor is there a dearth of opportunities, despite what larcenous politicians have wrought in the form of taxes to snare the ambitious and the successful. It is not difficult to envision the fortune that awaits the ingenious character who invents an automobile jack that makes possible changing of tires on 1954 motorized dreamboats with a minimum of damage to unrelated portions of the hull.

An automobile jack, not so many years ago, was a simple affair. The driver stuck it under the axle nearest the tire that was flat. Pumping or screwing it up half a foot did the trick. Now, however, all is different. Bumper jacks are the vogue, because axles have disappeared or are too far underneath the car to be available for jacking-up purposes. As the bumper is raised, the wheel, suspended on springs, continues to hug the ground. It is practically necessary to twist the body into the shape of a pretzel before the wheel is gingerly lifted from the ground.

So what is needed is a jack that will lift a wheel until a tire is changed. And that will do nothing else.

But perhaps the inventor of such a device will become only moderately wealthy, instead of hitting the jackpot. If so, there is another golden opportunity that seems to have been overlooked. This one has to do with coffee.

At latest reports, it was doubtful that sassafras would take the place of coffee, at least not for several years. In the meantime the opportunity is wide open for the daring spirit who builds a huge greenhouse, imports soil from Brazil, and conditions the air to resemble that of the coffee-growing areas. Coffee trees, planted in thick profusion, will bear in five years, and that is the beauty of this idea.

Five years hence the price of the java bean should be at least $5 a pound, and coffee growing in this greenhouse would resemble $20 gold pieces adorning a forest of trees.

Advertising Saga

Death at Point Reyes Station, Calif., of Frank H. (Cap) Harvey, aged 85, for 49 years until his retirement in 1945 automobile advertising manager of a Detroit, Mich., newspaper, was followed by many reminiscences of the early days of the industry in the automobile city. Harvey fondly talked of the days when he called on Henry Ford for advertisements, which the auto pioneer wrote himself in longhand.

Newspaper advertising has played a major part in the development of the automobile industry through the years, and Harvey saw every stage of the development.

Some oldtimers are convinced, however, that the advertising pioneer was something of a practical joker when he told of his pre-auto days. He said he went to work on the Detroit newspaper in 1897, wearing a Prince Albert coat, a high silk hat and carrying a cane, to take charge of "pharmaceutical advertising." The costume was standard for ad solicitors then, he said.

If "pharmaceutical advertising" meant patent medicine, he may have been right. At any rate, those who "advertised" patent medicines otherwise than in newspapers in those days affected the garb he described.

Shipbuilding Record

Only in times of war were more ships with greater tonnage built than left the ways last year. The 1953 record is 1,143 vessels of 5,096,050 tons. A total of 279 huge oil tankers accounted for more than 50 per cent of the total tonnage, according to Lloyd's Register of Shipping.

Germany, which was second last year to Great Britain and Northern Ireland's 1,317,463 tons, registered a 25 per cent gain to bring its launchings to 818,221 tons. Japan, which was third with 557,339 tons, showed a drop of 10 per cent from 1952. Britain's figure also was down slightly.

It is interesting to note that construction of steam-driven ships gained last year, and that diesel power installations dropped from 75 per cent of total tonnage the year before to 58 per cent. The only plausible explanation offered is that vessels are increasing in size, and steam is preferred for the larger craft.

How did U. S. ship launchings rank last year? Fourth, with 528,307 tons.

How To Keep Well

Bleeding Areas In The Nose

The nose is well supplied with blood vessels that come from branches of the carotid arteries on the sides of the neck. These vessels converge in a nest of capillaries in the partition (septum) at the end of the nose. Because of being so close to the surface they are broken readily when picked with a finger or injured by a direct blow.

The unusual nosebleed seldom is serious and can be controled by sitting or reclining quietly, pinching the nostrils, or applying cold applications. A massive hemorrhage requires expert care and special procedures, particularly when bleeding stems from the back part of the nose where the area is hard to see and coagulating and packing are difficult to do.

Physicians no longer pack the nostrils blindly, preferring to find and stop the source of bleeding. Coagulation of a ruptured vessel with a chemical or an electric current usually settles the problem. When the causative factor cannot be found, the passageways are packed. The location may be hidden by one of the turbinates or by an abnormal bend in the septum. The same can be said when the flow is so profuse, its source cannot be located. Gauze still is preferred by many physicians despite the numerous prepared packs available consisting of gelfoam, foam rubber, or petroleum gauze.

Excessive nosebleed may be a frightening experience. One of my colleagues, who looks 15 years younger than his chronological age, was doing his best to control bleeding in an excitable 60 year old business man. The flow was coming from a region that could not be cauterized and the specialist was forced to rely upon a nose pack. It took three days for hemorrhage to stop completely and by that time the merchant was exasperated to the point of frenzy. He asked my medical friend his age but before the medico could reply the patient said, "You are 40." The physician shook his head and said he was crowding 50. The anxious expression left the patient's face; the doctor was older than he thought and the business man was reassured by the realization that he was being cared for by a man of long experience.

"Nose picking" brings on eight out of 10 nosebleeds. Children rub or irritate the nasal membranes whenever they have a cold or the nose feels itchy because of allergy. Women are the worst offenders among adults. They wipe far into the nasal passageways and almost scrub the delicate membranes until oozing occurs. Once irritation sets in, crusts form and milady has something definite to remove. Treatment with chemical or electric cautery generally breaks the habit because the nose is so sore and tender after the procedure, the individual leaves the area alone.

TOMORROW: Re-evaluating the thymus gland.

PERIODIC DISTRESS

Mrs. L. rites: Every month for the first two days of my period I suffer from terrible rectal pain. What could cause this condition?

REPLY

Endometriosis is capable of producing this symptom. Send a self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on endometriosis, which explains how and why pain occurs during the menses.

HOT OR COLD FOOD

Mrs. B. writes: Our social club members have had an argument and we want you to straighten us out. One says that if we take cold food into the stomach, the stomach has to telegraph the brain for more heat, as food must be warmed to body temperature at once. During this process the body's temperature rises and perspiration increases. Some of us disagree with these statements.

REPLY

The temperature of food has nothing to do with digestion. It is true that cold foods are warmed and hot foods cooled in much the same way as a glass of water left on a table will assume room temperature in time. The body is accustomed to making adjustments of this kind. Drinking a hot liquid will make the body feel hot because it must dissipate the extra heat. This is contrary to the idea of your club member.

SCIATICA

J. M. writes: I have been bothered by sciatica for some time and would like to know what causes it and how it can be cured.

REPLY

Some cases are caused by arthritis but the great majority, especially when associated with backache, result from so-called slipped disk. Many cases of sciatica respond to suitable treatment. Our leaflet on Sciatica, which discusses these factors, may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

NIGHT BLINDNESS

A. F. writes: What will prevent night blindness?

REPLY

If the condition results from a deficiency of vitamin A, proper dosage of this substance may prevent the disorder. There are other causes of night blindness including prolonged exposure to bright sunlight, old age, disorders that affect the metabolism of vitamin A, and eye diseases like glaucoma and optic neuritis.

Fulton Lewis Indictment Is Challenge To Free Press; Lewis Attempted To Clean Up Maryland Gambling; Some Officials Prosecute Rather Than Refute

(Editors Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his daughter, Mrs. George L. Arnold).

WASHINGTON, D. C.
March 10, 1954

Dear Daughter:

I am very glad to know that I am to become a grandfather for the third time, and it doesn't make me feel old at all. I don't think, however, that I'd better make any predictions, because I know you want a girl, and I seem to have bad luck on personal predictions. I seem to have reasonably good luck predicting trouble in Egypt or elections in New Jersey, but when it comes to simple things like how many guests I'm going to bring home for dinner, Luvie says my batting average is zero.

I suppose it wasn't published in the California papers, but Fulton Lewis got indicted for criminal libel the other day by a Maryland grand jury—which started me thinking about various things, some pleasant, some not so pleasant.

You used to play with his daughter many years ago, which was pleasant; but in recent years he and I have drifted rather far apart, and though you have probably forgotten it and I intend to forget it, he gleefully jumped on the McCarthy bandwagon when McCarthy was making speeches from the safety of the Senate floor demanding that my sponsor cancel and that I be taken off the air.

However, it seems to me that the action of the grand jury in indicting Fulton when he criticized gambling and bootlegging in Southern Maryland strikes a new low for intolerance on the part of public officials. It is not too far removed from the McCarthy retaliation against anyone who dares criticize him.

Maryland Cleanup Backfires

What happened was that Fulton's broadcasts secured the indictment of several people charged with gambling, and then the grand jury turned around and indicted him because he had some tough things to say about local judges.

Regardless of my own personal disagreements with Fulton Lewis it seems to me that to take criminal action against a newspaperman because he tries to clean up gambling and bootlegging, is going back to the days when the country was ruled by an absentee monarch.

Of course, Fulton's friend McCarthy has been helping to take us back. And a lot of the witnesses called before certain Senate committees are as good as ruined long before they ever get a trial by jury. In fact, a new code of ethics seems to have developed for those whom Congress wants to accuse and those who accuse members of Congress.

For instance, Congressman Bramblett of California was not merely accused of using the taxpayers' money to feather his own pocket through kick-back funds, but he was convicted. Despite that he still sits in Congress as big as life, still votes on laws which you and I have to live up to, and still has his wife on the public payroll drawing the top secretarial pay of $8,492 a year.

In contrast, some government clerk gets fired merely because she's hauled up before a congressional committee, while the congressional member of a committee continues to draw a salary even after he's convicted.

In a way Fulton Lewis has become a victim of this new double standard for officials and private citizens and of the new technique whereby government officials strike at their critics through criminal retaliation. They don't bring civil libel suits, which they have every right to do, and which no newspaperman—except Pegler—can complain about.

A civil libel suit is a necessary risk of journalism and any good newspaperman who tries to get at the truth is bound to get sued in the civil courts. But a criminal indictment, brought by officials who have the police power at their beck and call, borders on the vindictive tyranny of the early days of this country.

In fact the law under which Fulton Lewis was indicted was handed down from early colonial days when British officials were worried about respect for themselves and King George.

First Press Crusader

Whenever your father gets discouraged about what a newspaperman should stand for, I like to read about the battles for freedom fought in those days, especially about the first great American journalist, Tom Paine. Though Tom Paine wasn't among the signers of the Declaration of Independence, he probably had as much to do with winning our basic freedoms as anyone. I read him a little this morning as I was thinking of Fulton Lewis; and I came across Edmund Burke's warning to Paine that his "Rights of Man" did not "deserve any other refuation than that of criminal justice."

In other words Burke proposed criminal prosecution for the man who championed our basic freedoms, just as certain Maryland officials propose criminal prosecution for Fulton Lewis because he criticized them.

Tom Paine's answer was a masterpiece. It's too long to quote in full, but in brief, he said: "It must be criminal justice indeed that should condemn a work as a substitute for not being able to refute it." (To interpose, the Maryland officials couldn't refute

Harassment

I was thumbing through an issue of "Life" magazine to look at the pictures and there big as a skyscraper was a picture of David Schine, filling most of the page, all stiff and stern like a Coldstream Guard on parade.

Schine is a plain GI without frills, learning to be a military cop, doing a 16-week period of basic training, his nose rubbed in the muck just to show him that all men are equal in the Army, except those who are coddled, and he is not being coddled. At Fort Dix, he was made into a celebrity by the Army cooperating with left-wing journalists; at Camp Gordon, at any rate, he is in a proper military atmosphere.

But does he have to be a model for a picture magazine too? What part of the military training is that? David Schine, I am sure, did not want to be a model for Harry Luce. Who in Washington ordered the command at Camp Gordon to require a soldier to be a Luce model? Schine is a pawn in a political game, in a fight among politicians. Who in the Army can require a soldier to pose like a bathing beauty for a private magazine that makes money out of pictures?

David Schine was conscripted into the Army at the age of 26. He is a Harvard graduate, an executive of a large hotel and movie house corporation. He had served a year overseas in the Army Transport Service. He had had a long experience as chief consultant for the McCarthy Committee without salary. He initiated and carried through the successful Voice of American investigation and he started the Fort Monmouth investigation. His career on the record makes him definite officer material.

Because of his connection with the McCarthy Committee, and only for that reason as I know, he was not given a chance that has been given to thousands of similarly placed young men to be an officer. So he went in as a GI. Does he have to be selected out of millions of troops for press conferences and photographs and modelling? There is a pointed harassment in all this that seems unfair. What does one have to do to be protected these days, join the Communist party?

Schine was yanked into the Army while he was actually engaged in an investigation of the Army. Schine was not given time to complete his work. An investigation might be made to find out how many young men at this particular time were given delays for one reason or another. The Senate committee made arrangements with the Army for a member of its staff to visit Schine off hours to go over matters which Schine was handling and he was given some weekends to complete the job.

The left-wing press made a hullabaloo about all this. Their reporters were creeping all over Fort Dix, interviewing everyone from generals to privates to uncover any special privileges for Schine. Then they found that he was wearing his own boots and that was bandied about as though it had never happened before. When he was sent to Camp Gordon in Georgia, it was assumed that Schine would be free from the taint of having served his country against the Communists. Perhaps he would be permitted to clean latrines in peace. Maybe his next operation will be to sit for a portrait of the best-dressed MP. Or maybe, he might serve as a Judo team in a vaudeville house!

Had Schine not worked on the McCarthy Committee, had he stayed quietly in the hotel business, the likelihood is that nobody would have yanked him into the Army at this time when there is no war and footsoldiers are mostly an expense. Be that as it may, the reason that he has become a subject for notoriety is that the left-wing press reporters in Washington, devoting themselves to splitting the Republican party, scare the wits out of Army officials. The impression even goes the rounds that Schine was a hostage to keep McCarthy in line.

McCarthy did not respond to that and Schine got a rough deal with no privileges, no exceptions, not even an acknowledgement of his education, experience and undoubted abilities.

This is written to keep the record straight, although there is more to tell.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Former President Truman is right when he says "there aren't an eyeful of Communists in the whole country," but he never has looked that eyeful squarely in the face.

For it took only an eyeful of Puerto Rican subversives from the Nationalist party to shoot five members of Congress last week. The whole Nationalist party in Puerto Rico comprises less than 500 persons out of the 2,500,000 population.

It took only an eyeful of Communists this week to sneak in and destroy 18 American planes at an airfield poorly protected by the French in Indochina.

It took only an eyeful of Communists to steal atomic secrets from the United States and hand them over to Russia. Klaus Fuchs, the spy, was only one man out of the many thousands who worked for the American government at the atomic project, but he did enough damage to the American people to be recorded as the most destructive traitor in history.

Just One At Yalta

It took only an eyeful of Communists in the Department of State, out of many thousands of employes, to attempt to sabotage American policy and one out of that eyeful — Alger Hiss — was at Yalta at the elbow of the secretary of state when the United States made its surrender of much of Asia to the Communists.

It took only an eyeful of Communists in the Treasury Department to enable one of their agents — Harry Dexter White — to furnish documents to the Communists and influence governmental monetary policy. Yet Mr. Truman was incredulous and wrote two letters of commendation to that one man after the FBI revealed the facts to him.

What Mr. Truman and many other loyal Americans misunderstand is the difference between the futile effort of communism to win a substantial number of Americans to its banner and the existence of a conspiracy by a small group to infiltrate our government departments and secure information for Soviet Russia.

The attitude of Mr. Truman ever since 1946 has been one of minimizing the importance of the Communist conspiracy. He wrote throughout his administration letter after letter pooh-poohing the Communist menace, and it was this attitude of disbelief in the Communist capacity to conduct a conspiracy inside the United States that led him to ignore the FBI charges against Harry Dexter White. The same attitude of blind skepticism was exhibited by the late President Roosevelt when Whittaker Chambers confessed to the government that he had been a spy and told that Alger Hiss was guilty of complicity in the espionage which he (Chambers) had been carrying on.

It was this which produced the climate of indifference inside Washington toward the Communists and their agents. It was only when the anti-Communist crusade began in Congress that the Department of Justice, under the last administration, started to do anything toward prosecuting the Communists.

Flanders Attitude Surprising

It is not surprising that Mr. Truman should remain unconvinced about the depth of Communist penetration in Washington and its effect on international policy, but it is most surprising that a man as well-informed as Senator Flanders, Republican, of Vermont, should make a speech in the Senate asking what possible connection there is between the anti-Communist crusade in America and the large and dangerous problems in Asia and Europe. The answer is that, because of Communist influence in making policy in the Far East under the last administration, the government of Chiang Kai-shek was undermined and moral support withdrawn at a critical moment. Thus were 400,000,000 Chinese delivered to bondage under the Communists. The records of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee are full of evidence of the manner in which American influence was dissipated in the Far East through Communist infiltration and a policy adopted in Washington which had been consistently advocated by Communist sympathizers in the United States.

If China had not been surrendered to the Communists, there would have been no Korean War and probably the 31,500 American boys killed in that war would be alive today. That's the tragic connection between the indifference of official Washington to the Communist menace inside government, and that's the importance also of alerting the government and the nation to the insidious influences still exerted by only an eyeful of people. They are active even today in trying to persuade the State Department to adopt a policy of appeasement in Indochina. It is agreed by the administration's own spokesmen that the loss of Indochina to the Communists would be disastrous to the interests of the United States in the future. Hence it is important to keep an eye on the eyeful in the government who are said to constitute what is known as an "appeasement" group favoring the surrender of Indochina to Communist control by the same "coalition" scheme that destroyed the Chiang Kai-shek government and gave the Communists the upper hand in China.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

A Question For McLeod

WASHINGTON

The Democrats can hardly wait to get the State Department's security officer, Scott McLeod, on the witness stand. They intend to call him before the Senate's Post Office and Civil Service Committee, and to ask him an embarrassing question. Here is the sort of thing they have in mind: "Mr. McLeod, as we understand it, a man who has been designated a security risk under the security program is classified as a subversive if information relating to subversion appears in his personnel files. Now, suppose a man's files show that he has recommended, in writing, the recognition of Red China.

"Suppose further, Mr. McLeod, that this same individual's files reveal that he has also been rather closely associated with the Institute of Pacific Relations, and that he has been intimate with others extremely active in the Institute.

"Suppose, on top of all this, that the files show that the individual in question maintained for a long time a sympathetic association with Alger Hiss; that he recommended Hiss for a post of great national influence; and that he failed to propose Hiss' discharge from this post, when Hiss was exposed by the Un-American Activities Committee. Would all this information be sufficient to place the individual in the subversive category, in the breakdown of the security program dismissals which the administration has given us?"

Embarrassing Question

It is a little hard to see how Mr. McLeod is going to answer this question, except by indignant waffling. For if his personnel files are complete, the information above unquestionably appears in the files of Mr. McLeod's boss, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Dulles is accounted by most observers one of the ablest high officials appointed by President Eisenhower. He has moved ahead fast in the foreign policy field, after a slow start. If the State Department's public opinion polls are to be trusted, he has the confidence of a surprising 68 per cent of the voters. Dulles of course acted in the best American traditions, when he refused to ask for Hiss' resignation as president of the Carnegie Institute until Hiss had been proven guilty in a court of law.

Altogether, any sane man would agree that it would be absolutely ridiculous to count the conservative Dulles as a potential subversive, on the basis of such information as that listed above. Yet the embarrassing question which the Democrats are gleefully planning to ask McLeod is a perfectly legitimate question all the same. For plenty of less distinguished people have been counted as potential subversives, on the basis of far less convincing information.

Some weeks ago, the "security firings" hoax began to backfire, when it was exposed in this space and elsewhere. There was then some disposition in the administration to admit quite frankly that a mistake had been made and that the government had not been found to be crawling with disloyal people after all. But at a cabinet meeting at the end of January, it was decided that this would be too politically embarrassing, and that some other way out must be found.

Opportunity For Democrats

The fact was recognized that some sort of breakdown of the "security firings" was inevitable. In preparing this breakdown, it was ruled that the ugly, specific word, "disloyal" should be barred, and the far more ambiguous word "subversive" used instead. It was further decided to re-examine the files of all those classified as security risks, in a search for any information bearing in any way, "no matter how remote," on subversion.

Under this ruling, even an unevaluated poison pen letter in the files of a government worker who had been designated a "security risk" is sufficient to put him in the "subversive" category. The Democrats claim to have proof of one case, in which a government employe who had resigned was listed as a security risk and classed in the subversive category, for sympathetic association with another government worker. This second man had, to be sure, been charged with disloyalty. But he had been completely cleared.

At any rate, the ruling described above has permitted some face-saving—at least for the time being. It has enabled Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission to claim, for example, that more than 400 out of over 2,200 "security firings" fall into the "subversive" category. This sounds bad enough, as it was meant to. But the Democrats have no intention of letting matters rest there.

They intend to call, not only McLeod, but the security chiefs of all the more important departments and agencies. They intend to prove, by questioning these men under oath, that not a single genuine Communist has yet been uncovered; and that the vast majority of those classed by Young as "subversive" are actually no more demonstrably subversive than Secretary Dulles himself.

Opinions differ on whether the "security firings" hoax has any real political importance. But the whole business has at least given the Democrats a golden opportunity to make the administration look silly. It is difficult to see why an administration which has a popular president and a perfectly good program of its own had to give the Democrats this opportunity.

Fears Of New Dust Bowl

With conditions ominously similar to those of the dust bowl era of two decades ago, farmers and agricultural officials of five plains states worry over the prospect of a repetition of those years.

With millions of acres of land across a broad southwestern area already reduced to dust and vast areas in danger, the consensus is that comparisons are less useful than measures for meeting the emergency.

Some spots are in more critical distress than others, with wide areas covered by dust inches thick, but the picture generally is the same across the entire area. A dry wind, blowing hard and steadily for days on end, is drying up the surface soil, lifting the powder, and driving it along like fine snow. The dust gives the wind more erosive power, so that the whole process gradually builds into a force which removes topsoil bodily.

Three years of subnormal rainfall have apparently lowered the subsurface water tables so that areas which are well grassed over are beginning to go. Showers and blizzards are providing only temporary relief.

Southeastern Colorado appears to be the hardest hit, with approximately 60 per cent of the wheat crop in eight counties a total loss. Damage is estimated at $15,000,000. In 15 counties in western Kansas more than 750,000 acres—one-third of the total acreage sown in wheat—has been blown out, and pasture land has suffered widespread damage.

In Texas nearly 700,000 acres have been moderately to severely damaged, and more than 3,000,000 additional acres are in danger. In Oklahoma the story is much the same.

Colorado's Governor Thornton feels that the dust conditions "will convince people that high prices guaranteed for wheat have been a mistake." His view is that the lure of a quick profit under the parity program led to turning up thousands of acres which should have been left in grass. Involved, also, is the problem of declining water tables everywhere. Meanwhile the remainder of the nation can eye its precious topsoil with a little more interest. It is never really missed until it blows away.

Making Money Faster

Everybody would like to make more money. The Horatio Alger instinct has not died out altogether.

Nor is there a dearth of opportunities, despite what larcenous politicians have wrought in the form of taxes to snare the ambitious and the successful. It is not difficult to envision the fortune that awaits the ingenious character who invents an automobile jack that makes possible changing of tires on 1954 motorized dreamboats with a minimum of damage to unrelated portions of the hull.

An automobile jack, not so many years ago, was a simple affair. The driver stuck it under the axle nearest the tire that was flat. Pumping or screwing it up half a foot did the trick. Now, however, all is different. Bumper jacks are the vogue, because axles have disappeared or are too far underneath the car to be available for jacking-up purposes. As the bumper is raised, the wheel, suspended on springs, continues to hug the ground. It is practically necessary to twist the body into the shape of a pretzel before the wheel is gingerly lifted from the ground.

So what is needed is a jack that will lift a wheel until a tire is changed. And that will do nothing else.

But perhaps the inventor of such a device will become only moderately wealthy, instead of hitting the jackpot. If so, there is another golden opportunity that seems to have been overlooked. This one has to do with coffee.

At latest reports, it was doubtful that sassafras would take the place of coffee, at least not for several years. In the meantime the opportunity is wide open for the daring spirit who builds a huge greenhouse, imports soil from Brazil, and conditions the air to resemble that of the coffee-growing areas. Coffee trees, planted in thick profusion, will bear in five years, and that is the beauty of this idea.

Five years hence the price of the java bean should be at least $5 a pound, and coffee growing in this greenhouse would resemble $20 gold pieces adorning a forest of trees.

Advertising Saga

Death at Point Reyes Station, Calif., of Frank H. (Cap) Harvey, aged 85, for 49 years until his retirement in 1945 automobile advertising manager of a Detroit, Mich., newspaper, was followed by many reminiscences of the early days of the industry in the automobile city. Harvey fondly talked of the days when he called on Henry Ford for advertisements, which the auto pioneer wrote himself in longhand.

Newspaper advertising has played a major part in the development of the automobile industry through the years, and Harvey saw every stage of the development.

Some oldtimers are convinced, however, that the advertising pioneer was something of a practical joker when he told of his pre-auto days. He said he went to work on the Detroit newspaper in 1897, wearing a Prince Albert coat, a high silk hat and carrying a cane, to take charge of "pharmaceutical advertising." The costume was standard for ad solicitors then, he said.

If "pharmaceutical advertising" meant patent medicine, he may have been right. At any rate, those who "advertised" patent medicines otherwise than in newspapers in those days affected the garb he described.

Shipbuilding Record

Only in times of war were more ships with greater tonnage built than left the ways last year. The 1953 record is 1,143 vessels of 5,096,050 tons. A total of 279 huge oil tankers accounted for more than 50 per cent of the total tonnage, according to Lloyd's Register of Shipping.

Germany, which was second last year to Great Britain and Northern Ireland's 1,317,463 tons, registered a 25 per cent gain to bring its launchings to 818,221 tons. Japan, which was third with 557,339 tons, showed a drop of 10 per cent from 1952. Britain's figure also was down slightly.

It is interesting to note that construction of steam-driven ships gained last year, and that diesel power installations dropped from 75 per cent of total tonnage the year before to 58 per cent. The only plausible explanation offered is that vessels are increasing in size, and steam is preferred for the larger craft.

How did U. S. ship launchings rank last year? Fourth, with 528,307 tons.

How To Keep Well

Bleeding Areas In The Nose

The nose is well supplied with blood vessels that come from branches of the carotid arteries on the sides of the neck. These vessels converge in a nest of capillaries in the partition (septum) at the end of the nose. Because of being so close to the surface they are broken readily when picked with a finger or injured by a direct blow.

The unusual nosebleed seldom is serious and can be controled by sitting or reclining quietly, pinching the nostrils, or applying cold applications. A massive hemorrhage requires expert care and special procedures, particularly when bleeding stems from the back part of the nose where the area is hard to see and coagulating and packing are difficult to do.

Physicians no longer pack the nostrils blindly, preferring to find and stop the source of bleeding. Coagulation of a ruptured vessel with a chemical or an electric current usually settles the problem. When the causative factor cannot be found, the passageways are packed. The location may be hidden by one of the turbinates or by an abnormal bend in the septum. The same can be said when the flow is so profuse, its source cannot be located. Gauze still is preferred by many physicians despite the numerous prepared packs available consisting of gelfoam, foam rubber, or petroleum gauze.

Excessive nosebleed may be a frightening experience. One of my colleagues, who looks 15 years younger than his chronological age, was doing his best to control bleeding in an excitable 60 year old business man. The flow was coming from a region that could not be cauterized and the specialist was forced to rely upon a nose pack. It took three days for hemorrhage to stop completely and by that time the merchant was exasperated to the point of frenzy. He asked my medical friend his age but before the medico could reply the patient said, "You are 40." The physician shook his head and said he was crowding 50. The anxious expression left the patient's face; the doctor was older than he thought and the business man was reassured by the realization that he was being cared for by a man of long experience.

"Nose picking" brings on eight out of 10 nosebleeds. Children rub or irritate the nasal membranes whenever they have a cold or the nose feels itchy because of allergy. Women are the worst offenders among adults. They wipe far into the nasal passageways and almost scrub the delicate membranes until oozing occurs. Once irritation sets in, crusts form and milady has something definite to remove. Treatment with chemical or electric cautery generally breaks the habit because the nose is so sore and tender after the procedure, the individual leaves the area alone.

Endometriosis is capable of producing this symptom. Send a self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on endometriosis, which explains how and why pain occurs during the menses.

HOT OR COLD FOOD

Mrs. B. writes: Our social club members have had an argument and we want you to straighten us out. One says that if we take cold food into the stomach, the stomach has to telegraph the brain for more heat, as food must be warmed to body temperature at once. During this process the body's temperature rises and perspiration increases. Some of us disagree with these statements.

REPLY

The temperature of food has nothing to do with digestion. It is true that cold foods are warmed and hot foods cooled in much the same way as a glass of water left on a table will assume room temperature in time. The body is accustomed to making adjustments of this kind. Drinking a hot liquid will make the body feel hot because it must dissipate the extra heat. This is contrary to the idea of your club member.

SCIATICA

J. M. writes: I have been bothered by sciatica for some time and would like to know what causes it and how it can be cured.

Some cases are caused by arthritis but the great majority, especially when associated with backache, result from so-called slipped disk. Many cases of sciatica respond to suitable treatment. Our leaflet on Sciatica, which discusses these factors, may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

NIGHT BLINDNESS

A. F. writes: What will prevent night blindness?

If the condition results from a deficiency of vitamin A, proper dosage of this substance may prevent the disorder. There are other causes of night blindness including prolonged exposure to bright sunlight, old age, disorders that affect the metabolism of vitamin A, and eye diseases like glaucoma and optic neuritis.

Fulton Lewis Indictment Is Challenge To Free Press; Lewis Attempted To Clean Up Maryland Gambling; Some Officials Prosecute Rather Than Refute

(Editors Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his daughter, Mrs. George L. Arnold).

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Dear Daughter:

I am very glad to know that I am to become a grandfather for the third time, and it doesn't make me feel old at all. I don't think, however, that I'd better make any predictions, because I know you want a girl, and I seem to have bad luck on personal predictions. I seem to have reasonably good luck predicting trouble in Egypt or elections in New Jersey, but when it comes to simple things like how many guests I'm going to bring home for dinner, Luvie says my batting average is zero.

I suppose it wasn't published in the California papers, but Fulton Lewis got indicted for criminal libel the other day by a Maryland grand jury—which started me thinking about various things, some pleasant, some not so pleasant.

You used to play with his daughter many years ago, which was pleasant; but in recent years he and I have drifted rather far apart, and though you have probably forgotten it and I intend to forget it, he gleefully jumped on the McCarthy bandwagon when McCarthy was making speeches from the safety of the Senate floor demanding that my sponsor cancel and that I be taken off the air.

However, it seems to me that the action of the grand jury in indicting Fulton when he criticized gambling and bootlegging in Southern Maryland strikes a new low for intolerance on the part of public officials. It is not too far removed from the McCarthy retaliation against anyone who dares criticize him.

Maryland Cleanup Backfires

What happened was that Fulton's broadcasts secured the indictment of several people charged with gambling, and then the grand jury turned around and indicted him because he had some tough things to say about local judges.

Regardless of my own personal disagreements with Fulton Lewis it seems to me that to take criminal action against a newspaperman because he tries to clean up gambling and bootlegging, is going back to the days when the country was ruled by an absentee monarch.

Of course, Fulton's friend McCarthy has been helping to take us back. And a lot of the witnesses called before certain Senate committees are as good as ruined long before they ever get a trial by jury. In fact, a new code of ethics seems to have developed for those whom Congress wants to accuse and those who accuse members of Congress.

For instance, Congressman Bramblett of California was not merely accused of using the taxpayers' money to feather his own pocket through kick-back funds, but he was convicted. Despite that he still sits in Congress as big as life, still votes on laws which you and I have to live up to, and still has his wife on the public payroll drawing the top secretarial pay of $8,492 a year.

In contrast, some government clerk gets fired merely because she's hauled up before a congressional committee, while the congressional member of a committee continues to draw a salary even after he's convicted.

In a way Fulton Lewis has become a victim of this new double standard for officials and private citizens and of the new technique whereby government officials strike at their critics through criminal retaliation. They don't bring civil libel suits, which they have every right to do, and which no newspaperman—except Pegler—can complain about.

A civil libel suit is a necessary risk of journalism and any good newspaperman who tries to get at the truth is bound to get sued in the civil courts. But a criminal indictment, brought by officials who have the police power at their beck and call, borders on the vindictive tyranny of the early days of this country.

In fact the law under which Fulton Lewis was indicted was handed down from early colonial days when British officials were worried about respect for themselves and King George.

First Press Crusader

Whenever your father gets discouraged about what a newspaperman should stand for, I like to read about the battles for freedom fought in those days, especially about the first great American journalist, Tom Paine. Though Tom Paine wasn't among the signers of the Declaration of Independence, he probably had as much to do with winning our basic freedoms as anyone. I read him a little this morning as I was thinking of Fulton Lewis; and I came across Edmund Burke's warning to Paine that his "Rights of Man" did not "deserve any other refuation than that of criminal justice."

In other words Burke proposed criminal prosecution for the man who championed our basic freedoms, just as certain Maryland officials propose criminal prosecution for Fulton Lewis because he criticized them.

Tom Paine's answer was a masterpiece. It's too long to quote in full, but in brief, he said: "It must be criminal justice indeed that should condemn a work as a substitute for not being able to refute it." (To interpose, the Maryland officials couldn't refute

Harassment

I was thumbing through an issue of "Life" magazine to look at the pictures and there big as a skyscraper was a picture of David Schine, filling most of the page, all stiff and stern like a Coldstream Guard on parade.

Schine is a plain GI without frills, learning to be a military cop, doing a 16-week period of basic training, his nose rubbed in the muck just to show him that all men are equal in the Army, except those who are coddled, and he is not being coddled. At Fort Dix, he was made into a celebrity by the Army cooperating with left-wing journalists; at Camp Gordon, at any rate, he is in a proper military atmosphere.

But does he have to be a model for a picture magazine too? What part of the military training is that? David Schine, I am sure, did not want to be a model for Harry Luce. Who in Washington ordered the command at Camp Gordon to require a soldier to be a Luce model? Schine is a pawn in a political game, in a fight among politicians. Who in the Army can require a soldier to pose like a bathing beauty for a private magazine that makes money out of pictures?

David Schine was conscripted into the Army at the age of 26. He is a Harvard graduate, an executive of a large hotel and movie house corporation. He had served a year overseas in the Army Transport Service. He had had a long experience as chief consultant for the McCarthy Committee without salary. He initiated and carried through the successful Voice of American investigation and he started the Fort Monmouth investigation. His career on the record makes him definite officer material.

Because of his connection with the McCarthy Committee, and only for that reason as I know, he was not given a chance that has been given to thousands of similarly placed young men to be an officer. So he went in as a GI. Does he have to be selected out of millions of troops for press conferences and photographs and modelling? There is a pointed harassment in all this that seems unfair. What does one have to do to be protected these days, join the Communist party?

Schine was yanked into the Army while he was actually engaged in an investigation of the Army. Schine was not given time to complete his work. An investigation might be made to find out how many young men at this particular time were given delays for one reason or another. The Senate committee made arrangements with the Army for a member of its staff to visit Schine off hours to go over matters which Schine was handling and he was given some weekends to complete the job.

The left-wing press made a hullabaloo about all this. Their reporters were creeping all over Fort Dix, interviewing everyone from generals to privates to uncover any special privileges for Schine. Then they found that he was wearing his own boots and that was bandied about as though it had never happened before. When he was sent to Camp Gordon in Georgia, it was assumed that Schine would be free from the taint of having served his country against the Communists. Perhaps he would be permitted to clean latrines in peace. Maybe his next operation will be to sit for a portrait of the best-dressed MP. Or maybe, he might serve as a Judo team in a vaudeville house!

Had Schine not worked on the McCarthy Committee, had he stayed quietly in the hotel business, the likelihood is that nobody would have yanked him into the Army at this time when there is no war and footsoldiers are mostly an expense. Be that as it may, the reason that he has become a subject for notoriety is that the left-wing press reporters in Washington, devoting themselves to splitting the Republican party, scare the wits out of Army officials. The impression even goes the rounds that Schine was a hostage to keep McCarthy in line.

McCarthy did not respond to that and Schine got a rough deal with no privileges, no exceptions, not even an acknowledgement of his education, experience and undoubted abilities.

This is written to keep the record straight, although there is more to tell.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Former President Truman is right when he says "there aren't an eyeful of Communists in the whole country," but he never has looked that eyeful squarely in the face.

For it took only an eyeful of Puerto Rican subversives from the Nationalist party to shoot five members of Congress last week. The whole Nationalist party in Puerto Rico comprises less than 500 persons out of the 2,500,000 population.

It took only an eyeful of Communists this week to sneak in and destroy 18 American planes at an airfield poorly protected by the French in Indochina.

It took only an eyeful of Communists to steal atomic secrets from the United States and hand them over to Russia. Klaus Fuchs, the spy, was only one man out of the many thousands who worked for the American government at the atomic project, but he did enough damage to the American people to be recorded as the most destructive traitor in history.

Just One At Yalta

It took only an eyeful of Communists in the Department of State, out of many thousands of employes, to attempt to sabotage American policy and one out of that eyeful — Alger Hiss — was at Yalta at the elbow of the secretary of state when the United States made its surrender of much of Asia to the Communists.

It took only an eyeful of Communists in the Treasury Department to enable one of their agents — Harry Dexter White — to furnish documents to the Communists and influence governmental monetary policy. Yet Mr. Truman was incredulous and wrote two letters of commendation to that one man after the FBI revealed the facts to him.

What Mr. Truman and many other loyal Americans misunderstand is the difference between the futile effort of communism to win a substantial number of Americans to its banner and the existence of a conspiracy by a small group to infiltrate our government departments and secure information for Soviet Russia.

The attitude of Mr. Truman ever since 1946 has been one of minimizing the importance of the Communist conspiracy. He wrote throughout his administration letter after letter pooh-poohing the Communist menace, and it was this attitude of disbelief in the Communist capacity to conduct a conspiracy inside the United States that led him to ignore the FBI charges against Harry Dexter White. The same attitude of blind skepticism was exhibited by the late President Roosevelt when Whittaker Chambers confessed to the government that he had been a spy and told that Alger Hiss was guilty of complicity in the espionage which he (Chambers) had been carrying on.

It was this which produced the climate of indifference inside Washington toward the Communists and their agents. It was only when the anti-Communist crusade began in Congress that the Department of Justice, under the last administration, started to do anything toward prosecuting the Communists.

Flanders Attitude Surprising

It is not surprising that Mr. Truman should remain unconvinced about the depth of Communist penetration in Washington and its effect on international policy, but it is most surprising that a man as well-informed as Senator Flanders, Republican, of Vermont, should make a speech in the Senate asking what possible connection there is between the anti-Communist crusade in America and the large and dangerous problems in Asia and Europe. The answer is that, because of Communist influence in making policy in the Far East under the last administration, the government of Chiang Kai-shek was undermined and moral support withdrawn at a critical moment. Thus were 400,000,000 Chinese delivered to bondage under the Communists. The records of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee are full of evidence of the manner in which American influence was dissipated in the Far East through Communist infiltration and a policy adopted in Washington which had been consistently advocated by Communist sympathizers in the United States.

If China had not been surrendered to the Communists, there would have been no Korean War and probably the 31,500 American boys killed in that war would be alive today. That's the tragic connection between the indifference of official Washington to the Communist menace inside government, and that's the importance also of alerting the government and the nation to the insidious influences still exerted by only an eyeful of people. They are active even today in trying to persuade the State Department to adopt a policy of appeasement in Indochina. It is agreed by the administration's own spokesmen that the loss of Indochina to the Communists would be disastrous to the interests of the United States in the future. Hence it is important to keep an eye on the eyeful in the government who are said to constitute what is known as an "appeasement" group favoring the surrender of Indochina to Communist control by the same "coalition" scheme that destroyed the Chiang Kai-shek government and gave the Communists the upper hand in China.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

A Question For McLeod

WASHINGTON

The Democrats can hardly wait to get the State Department's security officer, Scott McLeod, on the witness stand. They intend to call him before the Senate's Post Office and Civil Service Committee, and to ask him an embarrassing question. Here is the sort of thing they have in mind: "Mr. McLeod, as we understand it, a man who has been designated a security risk under the security program is classified as a subversive if information relating to subversion appears in his personnel files. Now, suppose a man's files show that he has recommended, in writing, the recognition of Red China.

"Suppose further, Mr. McLeod, that this same individual's files reveal that he has also been rather closely associated with the Institute of Pacific Relations, and that he has been intimate with others extremely active in the Institute.

"Suppose, on top of all this, that the files show that the individual in question maintained for a long time a sympathetic association with Alger Hiss; that he recommended Hiss for a post of great national influence; and that he failed to propose Hiss' discharge from this post, when Hiss was exposed by the Un-American Activities Committee. Would all this information be sufficient to place the individual in the subversive category, in the reakdown of the security program dismissals which the administration has given us?"

Embarrassing Question

It is a little hard to see how Mr. McLeod is going to answer this question, except by indignant waffling. For if his personnel files are complete, the information above unquestionably appears in the files of Mr. McLeod's boss, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Dulles is accounted by most observers one of the ablest high officials appointed by President Eisenhower. He has moved ahead fast in the foreign policy field, after a slow start. If the State Department's public opinion polls are to be trusted, he has the confidence of a surprising 68 per cent of the voters. Dulles of course acted in the best American traditions, when he refused to ask for Hiss' resignation as president of the Carnegie Institute until Hiss had been proven guilty in a court of law.

Altogether, any sane man would agree that it would be absolutely ridiculous to count the conservative Dulles as a potential subversive, on the basis of such information as that listed above. Yet the embarrassing question which the Democrats are gleefully planning to ask McLeod is a perfectly legitimate question all the same. For plenty of less distinguished people have been counted as potential subversives, on the basis of far less convincing information.

Some weeks ago, the "security firings" hoax began to backfire, when it was exposed in this space and elsewhere. There was then some disposition in the administration to admit quite frankly that a mistake had been made and that the government had not been found to be crawling with disloyal people after all. But at a cabinet meeting at the end of January, it was decided that this would be too politically embarrassing, and that some other way out must be found.

Opportunity For Democrats

The fact was recognized that some sort of breakdown of the "security firings" was inevitable. In preparing this breakdown, it was ruled that the ugly, specific word, "disloyal" should be barred, and the far more ambiguous word "subversive" used instead. It was further decided to re-examine the files of all those classified as security risks, in a search for any information bearing in any way, "no matter how remote," on subversion.

Under this ruling, even an unevaluated poison pen letter in the files of a government worker who had been designated a "security risk" is sufficient to put him in the "subversive" category. The Democrats claim to have proof of one case, in which a government employe who had resigned was listed as a security risk and classed in the subversive category, for sympathetic association with another government worker. This second man had, to be sure, been charged with disloyalty. But he had been completely cleared.

At any rate, the ruling described above has permitted some face-saving—at least for the time being. It has enabled Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission to claim, for example, that more than 400 out of over 2,200 "security firings" fall into the "subversive" category. This sounds bad enough, as it was meant to. But the Democrats have no intention of letting matters rest there.

They intend to call, not only McLeod, but the security chiefs of all the more important departments and agencies. They intend to prove, by questioning these men under oath, that not a single genuine Communist has yet been uncovered; and that the vast majority of those classed by Young as "subversive" are actually no more demonstrably subversive than Secretary Dulles himself.

Opinions differ on whether the "security firings" hoax has any real political importance. But the whole business has at least given the Democrats a golden opportunity to make the administration look silly. It is difficult to see why an administration which has a popular president and a perfectly good program of its own had to give the Democrats this opportunity.

Murrow's Blast At Sen. M'Carthy Supported 10-1

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—A telecast denunciation of Sen. Joseph R McCarthy (R-Wis) by commentator Edward R. Murrow brought an avalanche of phone calls and telegrams to the Columbia Broadcasting System today.

CBS said an overwhelming majority sided with Murrow's contention on his "See It Now" program last night that McCarthy repeatedly overstepped the bounds between investigation and persecution.

The network, with wire and phone calls still coming in, gave this tabulation late today:

Telephone calls favoring the program, 4,947; protesting the program, 475.

Telegrams favoring the program, 2,543; protesting the program, 69.

CBS said it did not have a tabulation on calls or wires received by the network's outlets in other cities, including Milwaukee, in the senator's home state.

Murrow issued an invitation to McCarthy to reply on a later "See It Now" program, but the network said it had not received any word from the senator.

A CBS spokesman said "an amazing number" of those who wrote or wired asked for a repeat of the program, but that no decision had been reached yet. The program was recorded on film.

Murrow delivered his criticism in the midst of a fight by McCarthy to force CBS and the National Broadcasting Co. to give him free time to answer a speech by Democratic leader Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson attacked both McCarthy and the Republican party. The two networks offered free rebuttal time to the Republican National Committee, which named Vice President Richard M. Nixon to reply.

McCarthy, arguing that he was attacked personally, told a news conference yesterday he would make a test of whether the networks could refuse him time to reply personally.

Murrow used films and tape recordings of McCarthy speeches and said they showed the senator employed half-truths as a staple item. He accused McCarthy of confusing the public.

Italian Deputies Vote Confidence In Scelba

ROME, March 10 (AP)—The Italian Chamber of Deputies tonight voted confidence in Premier Mario Scelba and his program of mild social reform and friendship with the West.

Scelba's four-party coalition won by a vote of 300 to 283 after a long and bitter debate.

The Christian Democrat Premier squeezed out a similar vote of confidence in the Senate on Feb. 26, winning a five-vote margin.

Scelba, a strong foe of communism, is thus confirmed in office and the latest of periodic political crises, which have plagued Italy since the elections of June 7, appeared to be temporarily ended.

The vote came after a stormy session in which the Premier presented his government program and berated both the Communist left and the Monarchist right.

Hoots from the left benches interrupted his two-hour speech repeatedly. Once the session had to be suspended for 15 minutes to restore order when Communist and Fascist deputies charged from their seats and had to be held apart by a barrier of ushers.

Witness Says Einstein Collected Funds For Red Front Organization

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Testimony was developed at a McCarthy hearing today that Albert Einstein, the famed physicist, collected funds in 1945 for an organization the attorney general tabbed as subversive four years later.

The witness before the Senate Investigations subcommittee was Peter A. Gragis of Levittown, N.Y., self-described former Communist.

Roy Cohn, subcommittee counsel, asked whether Gragis had taken part in or made contributions to Communist-front organizations, specifically mentioning the American Committee for Spanish Freedom.

Gragis testified he had received a letter from Einstein in 1945 asking for contributions to the committee and had collected $21 from fellow employes at the federal telecommunications laboratories, Nutley, N.J.

Cohn said the subcommittee had a copy of a $21 canceled check, dated Nov. 16, 1945, made out by Gragis and endorsed by Einstein.

Gragis identified the check, and Cohn said that the American Committee for Spanish Freedom had been cited by former Attn. Gen. Tom Clark as a Communist-front.

Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis) asked Gragis if the money he turned over to Einstein was collected from members of the Communist party.

Gragis replied, "No."

McCarthy asked if any of those who contributed were Communists.

"No, I don't believe so," Gragis replied.

Gragis said the letter signed by Einstein stated the purpose of the committee was to collect funds to help hospitalized veterans of the Spanish civil war and their dependents.

The witness also testified, in reply to a question of Sen. Symington (D-Mo), that he had never even seen Einstein.

Gragis said Einstein's letter "clearly pointed out" that the money was being raised for Spanish war veterans and made no mention of anything connected with communism or Communists.

"So, you are making no allegation?" asked Symington.

"No," Gragis replied. But he added, "as I look back, I can see he was abetting subversive organizations."

Further questioning by other subcommittee members brought out from Cohn that the attorney general's citation of the committee was announced on April 27, 1949, while the check was dated 1945.

Cohn remarked that "of course" the citation was based on past activities of the committee.

Yacht Club Plans Activities, Enlarging Dock And Building

New officers of the Deep Creek Yacht Club assumed their duties and outlined activities for the year at the meeting Wednesday evening at the home of John W. Stark, commodore, in LaVale.

Besides planning the formal opening of the season and the second annual Maryland Championship Regatta, the club voted to install new and larger dock facilities, redecorate and enlarge the club house; and open a special club house for the junior group.

The larger dock facilities to handle the increased sailing activities will be designed and built by Frederick D. Steiding, Dr. Lyman Bonner, Cumberland, and Richard Kirsch. Commodore Stark is in charge of the redecorating and enlarging of the club house.

May 28 was selected as the tentative date for the dance which will begin activities for the formal opening of the season. The annual Memorial Day Regatta is being held May 29 and 30. The committee in charge is composed of Stewart Brown, Baltimore; Robert K. Knipe, Pittsburgh; and Mr. Steiding, Cumberland. The Dance committee consists of Mr. Kirsch, Mr. Stark and Henry K. Duke.

In planning the second annual Maryland Championship Regatta, August 14, 15 and 16 the club expects skippers from some of the inland lakes of the Middle West. Mahan, Morgantown; Cyrus Bowus, Frederick Wagner, Baltimore, and Harold H. Muma, is in charge of arrangements.

Women members of the club are forming a group to handle the entertainment and social part of the regatta. One feature will be a cocktail party and dinner for all visiting skippers. It will be August 14 at the Yacht Club.

A special club house for the juniors will be opened in the basement of the Yacht Club. The juniors will form their own yacht club and elect their own officers to promote sailing activities within their group. Dr. Mahan, Dr. Brown and Dr. Bonner were named to act as advisors to teach sailing tactics and first aid.

Installed as the new officers with Commodore Stark are Stewart Brown, vice commodore; Dr. Mahan, rear commodore; John F. Schaidt, city, treasurer; Mr. Duke, secretary and Mr. Steiding, assistant secretary.

Amendments To Be On Ballot

Maryland voters will have the opportunity to decide on nine constitutional changes when they go to the polls in November to elect county and state officers as well as representatives to Congress.

The total stood at five after the 1953 session of the General Assembly. Four more were added at the session which closed last week.

The home-rule amendment, regarded by many as the most important achievement of the 1954 session, would have a profound effect on legislation. It may cut the number of bills passed at 90-day sessions as much as 20 per cent.

Other Questions

The other questions, proposed by the 1953 and 1954 General Assemblies for submission to the voters, would:

1. Provide a judge for every county except in the Eastern Shore circuit and create additional judgeships in Baltimore, Montgomery, Anne Arundel and Prince Georges counties.

2. Add a judge in Baltimore County if the omnibus judiciary amendment failed.

3. Add a judge in Montgomery County if the voters rejected the omnibus amendment.

4. Delete a requirement, not enforced, that the Secretary of State reside in Annapolis and permit his salary, now fixed at $2,000, to be provided by law.

Raise For Governor

5. Raise the governor's salary from $4,500 to $15,000.

6. Authorize the General Assembly to provide by law for absentee voting.

7. Amend Baltimore's Port Development Authority to say the city could not acquire land for port purposes in Howard county. It would have to get county approval before taking land in any other county and Anne Arundel county would retain taxing authority over land so taken.

8. Take the Baltimore city sheriff's salary out of the Constitution, which now holds it at $7,500, and permit it to be set by law.

Another proposed amendment on judges, to keep Allegany County from losing one of its two resident judges should the omnibus amendment be approved at the polls, missed at this session.

The House indorsed it, but the 16-to-13 Senate vote was short of the number needed for passage.

Wouldn't Affect Baltimore

The home-rule amendment, which is essentially the bill proposed by the Sobeloff Commission, surprised even some of its most ardent suporters when it gained Senate approval. The House had been won over to the municipalities' cause a year ago.

It would not affect Baltimore City.

Other municipalities in the State would be divided into four of fewer classes, according to population.

The legislature would be barred from passing bills affecting individual towns except to limit tax rates and debt, and such bills would be subject to local referendum. It could pass bills affecting one or more of the classes of municipalities. Other changes could be accomplished at the local level.

Bills To Follow

Three pieces of legislation could be expected at the 1955 session to implement the home-rule amendment of the voters accept it.

One would set up the classes of towns and prescribe their population limits.

Another would spell out procedure for amending charters locally, and a third would do the same for creation of new towns.

The Maryland Municipal League, which carried the ball here on the home-rule issue, probably will get to work early on the necessary legislation for consideration by the Legislative Council, a spokesman said today.

Among the questions to be decided will be whether to go along with the Sobeloff Commission recommendation that county commissioners have veto power over new incorporations.

The constitutional amendment generally provides for amendment of charters and local law locally.

An accounting of the funds collected will be made the first of next week, he reported.

LaVale School Bids To Be Opened April 8

Bids for the construction of the new elementary school in LaVale will be advertised this week by the Allegany County Board of Education, Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday.

Bids for the latest project in the county's $3,500,000 school construction program will be opened by the board Thursday, April 8.

The new school will be the second in the constantly expanding suburb of Cumberland. The present elementary school is located in the Long section and the new one will be in the other end of LaVale in the Allegany Grove area.

A name has not been selected by the Board of Education, Webster explained.

The Allegany Grove school will have ten class rooms, offices, health room, cafeteria and library.

In the future, the board plans to add a junior high school addition on the structure. The Board of Education has had the architect design the cafeteria and boiler large enough to handle this annex when it is built.

An official of Johannes and Murray, Silver Spring architect that designed the building, stopped here this morning to discuss the project with Webster while enroute to Oakland.

The firm has the contract to design the 20-bed addition to Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

Amendments To Be On Ballot

Maryland voters will have the opportunity to decide on nine constitutional changes when they go to the polls in November to elect county and state officers as well as representatives to Congress.

The total stood at five after the 1953 session of the General Assembly. Four more were added at the session which closed last week.

The home-rule amendment, regarded by many as the most important achievement of the 1954 session, would have a profound effect on legislation. It may cut the number of bills passed at 90-day sessions as much as 20 per cent.

Other Questions

The other questions, proposed by the 1953 and 1954 General Assemblies for submission to the voters, would:

1. Provide a judge for every county except in the Eastern Shore circuit and create additional judgeships in Baltimore, Montgomery, Anne Arundel and Prince Georges counties.

2. Add a judge in Baltimore County if the omnibus judiciary amendment failed.

3. Add a judge in Montgomery County if the voters rejected the omnibus amendment.

4. Delete a requirement, not enforced, that the Secretary of State reside in Annapolis and permit his salary, now fixed at $2,000, to be provided by law.

Raise For Governor

5. Raise the governor's salary from $4,500 to $15,000.

6. Authorize the General Assembly to provide by law for absentee voting.

7. Amend Baltimore's Port Development Authority to say the city could not acquire land for port purposes in Howard county. It would have to get county approval before taking land in any other county and Anne Arundel county would retain taxing authority over land so taken.

8. Take the Baltimore city sheriff's salary out of the Constitution, which now holds it at $7,500, and permit it to be set by law.

Another proposed amendment on judges, to keep Allegany County from losing one of its two resident judges should the omnibus amendment be approved at the polls, missed at this session.

The House indorsed it, but the 16-to-13 Senate vote was short of the number needed for passage.

Wouldn't Affect Baltimore

The home-rule amendment, which is essentially the bill proposed by the Sobeloff Commission, surprised even some of its most ardent suporters when it gained Senate approval. The House had been won over to the municipalities' cause a year ago.

It would not affect Baltimore City.

Other municipalities in the State would be divided into four of fewer classes, according to population.

The legislature would be barred from passing bills affecting individual towns except to limit tax rates and debt, and such bills would be subject to local referendum. It could pass bills affecting one or more of the classes of municipalities. Other changes could be accomplished at the local level.

Bills To Follow

Three pieces of legislation could be expected at the 1955 session to implement the home-rule amendment of the voters accept it.

One would set up the classes of towns and prescribe their population limits.

Another would spell out procedure for amending charters locally, and a third would do the same for creation of new towns.

The Maryland Municipal League, which carried the ball here on the home-rule issue, probably will get to work early on the necessary legislation for consideration by the Legislative Council, a spokesman said today.

Among the questions to be decided will be whether to go along with the Sobeloff Commission recommendation that county commissioners have veto power over new incorporations.

Maryland Joins Top Ten States In Auto Safety

Highway Fatalities Below Nation's Level

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday he has received figures from the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission which show that Maryland is making progress in its drive for greater safety on the streets and highways.

Commissioner Long said the statement from the Commission is of special interest here since Cumberland, for the past few years, has also made considerable progress in safety measures for pedestrians as well as motorists.

The figures referred to in the report are from the National Safety Council and show, state by state that the nation has a four per cent increase in highway deaths over a three-year period.

However, Maryland has a four per cent reduction.

The nation's average of fatalities per hundred million miles of vehicular travel, is 7.0, while Maryland is below the nation's average with 6.4. For deaths per 100,000 population, the nation's average is 24.2, and the State of Maryland is also below the nation with 20.6. This represents 68 lives and $6,800,000 economic saving.

In commenting on these figures from the National Safety Council, officials of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, stated Long observed that Maryland, in the safety movement, is rated among the 10 top states in the nation. The other nine states have always led the nation, but Maryland now has moved into what is generally known as the Big League States in highway safety.

"In view of the fact that Maryland has just entered the big league in baseball, and has been in the big league in football and basketball, it is very gratifying to know we are now members of the big league when it comes to saving lives on our streets and highways," Long commented.

It was also announced by the executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, Paul E. Burke, that a conference is being arranged with Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, to outline the action program developed at President Eisenhower's White House Conference on Highway Safety. The time and place of this meeting, with the delegates and others from Maryland who attended the White House Conference, will be announced at a later date.

Delinquency

German children really let out their emotions.

She commented to Miss Bernice Winner, principal of West Side School, that she was surprised there was so little noise in the school cafeteria, where over 300 children were congregated. Because of the shorter school day there are no cafeterias at schools in Offenburg.

One of her most vivid impressions of the United States is the friendliness and hospitality of the people, Miss Wunderlich observed. In both schools and homes there seems to be a friendly atmosphere.

The scenery in the western part of the country also overwhelmed Miss Wunderlich. She spent four months, from October 1 to February 1, at Washington State College in Pullman, Wash. Others among the 108 German teachers now in this country attended the University of Cincinnati, the University of Kentucky, the University of Illinois, Texas State College and Oregon State College.

At Washington State she attended classes three days a week. Two other days each week she sat in on seminars on American life and American schools. Then one week of each month she spent in a different school system in the State of Washington. She visited Seattle, Spokane and the Columbia River basin tn these observations.

Miss Wunderlich really has seen America. From Pullman she traveled by bus to the Los Angeles area, where she spent the month of February observing a public school system in operation. A cross-country bus trip then brought her to Baltimore via New Orleans.

It was in Baltimore where she conferred with the officials of the State Department of Education before coming to Cumberland.

The traveling teacher has already been invited to meet with the elementary school principals to discuss some of her observations while here. She will remain here until April 1. Then she and the other German teachers will go back to Washington for an evaluation conference preparatory to their departure for home.

Miss Lorenzen

vince of Schleswig-Holstein could profit by expanding its activities somewhat along the American line.

Summarizing her observance on education, Miss Lorenzen said that in the United States all children are provided a general and common education which helps them to get along with people and thereby to become good citizens. In Germany the educational system aims to develop good citizenship by developing special facilities.

The German teacher stated that on the high school level there are three types of schools. The first, or common school, stresses a practical education with a workshop for boys and home economics for girls. Although education is compulsory until the age of 18 in such a school, the pupils often are apprenticed into jobs at which they work part of the time.

Then there is an intermediate high school which combines features of both the practical and the intellectual. Pupils here may take shorthand or typing and they also are required to learn one foreign language—English.

Intellectual School

Miss Lorenzen teaches in the third type of high school, which she calls the intellectual school. There are only four of them out of 52 high schools in Schleswig-Holstein. Nearly all of the graduates of her school go on to colleges and universities. The school has about 600 boys and 100 girls. All of her students are boys. For them Latin, Greek, English and French languages are required, and Hebrew, Spanish and Danish are optional.

Other subjects include mathematics, physics, civics, chemistry, biology, geography, world history and physical education. Religion is an elective subject.

"I found that I might come to the United States in January 1953, when the principal of my school informed me that the Board of Education of Schleswig-Holstein had recommended me," the visiting teacher explained.

After filling out piles of forms and being interviewed by the American Consul and many other persons, she found that she was to come to this country only a couple of days before the 108 teachers gathered in Frankfort-on-Main to begin their journey to America. They took a train to Italy and in Genoa boarded the ship which brought them to New York.

Although she has been in Cumberland only a little over a day, Miss Lorenzen already has received many invitations to speak to clubs and visit homes in the city.

Walsh, vice presidents; Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum, treasurer; G. Morgan Smith, assistant; Miss Olive Simpson, recording secretary; Mrs. Gertrude Golden Smith, corresponding secretary and Miss Mary G. Maryland Joins Top Ten States In Auto Safety

Highway Fatalities Below Nation's Level

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday he has received figures from the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission which show that Maryland is making progress in its drive for greater safety on the streets and highways.

Commissioner Long said the statement from the Commission is of special interest here since Cumberland, for the past few years, has also made considerable progress in safety measures for pedestrians as well as motorists.

The figures referred to in the report are from the National Safety Council and show, state by state that the nation has a four per cent increase in highway deaths over a three-year period.

However, Maryland has a four per cent reduction.

The nation's average of fatalities per hundred million miles of vehicular travel, is 7.0, while Maryland is below the nation's average with 6.4. For deaths per 100,000 population, the nation's average is 24.2, and the State of Maryland is also below the nation with 20.6. This represents 68 lives and $6,800,000 economic saving.

In commenting on these figures from the National Safety Council, officials of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, stated Long observed that Maryland, in the safety movement, is rated among the 10 top states in the nation. The other nine states have always led the nation, but Maryland now has moved into what is generally known as the Big League States in highway safety.

"In view of the fact that Maryland has just entered the big league in baseball, and has been in the big league in football and basketball, it is very gratifying to know we are now members of the big league when it comes to saving lives on our streets and highways," Long commented.

It was also announced by the executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, Paul E. Burke, that a conference is being arranged with Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, to outline the action program developed at President Eisenhower's White House Conference on Highway Safety. The time and place of this meeting, with the delegates and others from Maryland who attended the White House Conference, will be announced at a later date.

Delinquency

German children really let out their emotions.

She commented to Miss Bernice Winner, principal of West Side School, that she was surprised there was so little noise in the school cafeteria, where over 300 children were congregated. Because of the shorter school day there are no cafeterias at schools in Offenburg.

One of her most vivid impressions of the United States is the friendliness and hospitality of the people, Miss Wunderlich observed. In both schools and homes there seems to be a friendly atmosphere.

The scenery in the western part of the country also overwhelmed Miss Wunderlich. She spent four months, from October 1 to February 1, at Washington State College in Pullman, Wash. Others among the 108 German teachers now in this country attended the University of Cincinnati, the University of Kentucky, the University of Illinois, Texas State College and Oregon State College.

At Washington State she attended classes three days a week. Two other days each week she sat in on seminars on American life and American schools. Then one week of each month she spent in a different school system in the State of Washington. She visited Seattle, Spokane and the Columbia River basin tn these observations.

Miss Wunderlich really has seen America. From Pullman she traveled by bus to the Los Angeles area, where she spent the month of February observing a public school system in operation. A cross-country bus trip then brought her to Baltimore via New Orleans. It was in Baltimore where she conferred with the officials of the State Department of Education before coming to Cumberland.

The traveling teacher has already been invited to meet with the elementary school principals to discuss some of her observations while here. She will remain here until April 1. Then she and the other German teachers will go back to Washington for an evaluation conference preparatory to their departure for home.

Rhee Hints He'll Send Delegates To Geneva

SEOUL, Thursday, March 11 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee says he probably will send delegates to the Geneva conference but "we must have ironclad assurances there will be no sellout of Korea."

The president of South Korea set forth his position—with heavy emphasis on his displeasure at the way the conference was arranged—in answer to written questions from The Associated Press.

Rhee insisted that South Korea was left in the dark during the Berlin Four Power conference which set up the Geneva meeting. His final decision, he said, awaits further information from Secretary of State Dulles.

Among other things, Rhee wanted to know if Dulles would stand by an agreement reached with Rhee in Seoul last year to walk out on the peace conference if it became apparent the Communists were stalling.

Rhee referred to the Geneva conference opening April 26 as "further useless talk."

"We do not like the idea of a conference and we are positive that it will achieve nothing," Rhee wrote. "But if our interests are fully protected we probably shall make this one last effort in an attempt to persuade our allies that the only way to bring peace to Korea is to finish the job that was begun when the aggressors struck in June of 1950. . . .

"We must, however, give this final warning . . . Korea cannot wait for unification for endless months while the idle talk drags on."

Rhee Due To Get U.S. Assurances Against 'Sellout'

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The United States is expected to give South Korea assurances soon that there will be no "sellout" of its vital interests at the forthcoming Geneva conference on Far Eastern peace.

At the same time, informed sources here said, the United States is due to invite the Syngman Rhee government to assign a representative to consult with American officials on policies to be followed in dealing with Communist governments in the Geneva meeting.

President Rhee indicated at Seoul today he will send a delegation to Geneva for the conference opening April 26, but he said he wants assurances and clarification on the American position regarding Korean negotiations there.

The Geneva conference was agreed upon by Russia and the Western powers at the Big Four meeting in Berlin last month. It will actually be two conferences, one concerned with negotiating a permanent settlement in divided Korea and the other aimed at negotiating peace in Indochina.

Planning for the policies and tactics to be followed by the free nations in these meetings will go into high gear when Secretary of State Dulles returns next weekend from the Inter-American Conference at Caracas, Venezuela.

The United States, Britain and France have invited South Korea and 13 United Nations members which contributed forces to the anti-Communist fight in Korea to participate in the conference. All except two or three of these have indicated they would attend. Russia, Red China and the North Korean Communist regime are due to represent the Communist side in the Korean discussions.

In the Indochina discussions, the principal conferees will be the Western powers, Russia and Red China, which are supposed to be joined by other interested states yet to be designated.

Diplomats said today the Korean negotiations will very likely develop the same kind of deadlock which the Berlin conference ran into over divided Germany.

The Western powers and their United Nations allies will almost certainly propose unification of the country through free elections in the conviction that anti-Communist forces would sweep to complete victory. The Communists probably will move for some kind of coalition between the Syngman Rhee and Red regimes in the belief that only by such a device can they hope eventually to take over all Korea.

There is no optimism here that any compromise can be found between these two positions. Nor for that matter is there any real hope now apparent of finding a formula satisfactory to both sides for settling the Indochina war.

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—Every dwelling in Baltimore must have a bath, hot water and toilet after 1956, decreed Dr. Huntington Williams, health commissioner, today.

Senators Turn Historians In Statehood Bill Debate

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Anyone who drops in on the Senate these days is likely to get a lesson in American history—and a mighty interesting one, too.

The Senate is arguing this question: Should Hawaii and—or Alaska be admitted to the Union? In doing their homework, the senators dug up some instructive facts.

For instance: Why was Nevada brought into the Union?

At the time—1864—it had only 7,000 residents, or 26 fewer than now live in Farmington, Conn.

There were other reasons for its admission, of course, but Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said there was this compelling reason for haste: The Lincoln administration wanted to make sure it had enough states favorable to the ratification of the 13th Amendment, abolishing slavery.

"Nevada," said Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), "was admitted under circumstances less than sanctimonious."

Anderson would like to have Hawaii and Alaska admitted at the same time. And he cited instances in which states were admitted two at a time.

Douglas: "It is my understanding that up until about 1854 the states, like the animals entering the ark, came in by pairs—one slave state and one free state together."

Anderson: "That is not exactly true."

Douglas: "It is approximately true."

Anderson: "Tennessee, Louisiana and Ohio do not fall into that pattern at all. Vermont and Kentucky do. Indiana and Mississippi do. Then Illinois and Alabama—."

Douglas: "And Maine and Missouri."

Anderson: "Maine and Missouri, Arkansas and Michigan, Iowa and Florida. Then comes the case of Texas, which apparently does not fall into that pattern."

Sen. Daniel (D-Tex) got up.

Anderson: "I now salute the junior Senator from Texas, who, I am sure, will agree with me that there could be no pattern broad enough to encompass the virtues of that great state."

Daniel (modestly): "I thank the Senator from New Mexico for that very fair and accurate statement."

Sen. Butler (R-Neb) brought out that Texas, under the rules of its admission, is the only state with the right to divide itself into five states.

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) turned to history to show how legislators of the past had been wrong in opposing the admission of territories.

In 1845, for example, this statement was made:

"There must be some limit to the extent of our territory if we are to make our institutions permanent. The government is likely to be endangered, in my opinion, by a further enlargement of its already vast territorial surface."

The speaker was Daniel Webster, and he was talking against the proposal to let Texas into the Union.

Dan'l was quite a politician all right, but he would have had a hard time getting elected mayor of Amarillo.

Rhee Hints He'll Send Delegates To Geneva

SEOUL, Thursday, March 11 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee says he probably will send delegates to the Geneva conference but "we must have ironclad assurances there will be no sellout of Korea."

The president of South Korea set forth his position—with heavy emphasis on his displeasure at the way the conference was arranged—in answer to written questions from The Associated Press.

Rhee insisted that South Korea was left in the dark during the Berlin Four Power conference which set up the Geneva meeting. His final decision, he said, awaits further information from Secretary of State Dulles.

Among other things, Rhee wanted to know if Dulles would stand by an agreement reached with Rhee in Seoul last year to walk out on the peace conference if it became apparent the Communists were stalling.

Rhee referred to the Geneva conference opening April 26 as "further useless talk."

"We do not like the idea of a conference and we are positive that it will achieve nothing," Rhee wrote. "But if our interests are fully protected we probably shall make this one last effort in an attempt to persuade our allies that the only way to bring peace to Korea is to finish the job that was begun when the aggressors struck in June of 1950. . . .

"We must, however, give this final warning . . . Korea cannot wait for unification for endless months while the idle talk drags on."

North Carolina estimates that cotton farmers lost 25 million dollars to the boll weevil in that state in 1953.

Rhee Due To Get U.S. Assurances Against 'Sellout'

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The United States is expected to give South Korea assurances soon that there will be no "sellout" of its vital interests at the forthcoming Geneva conference on Far Eastern peace.

At the same time, informed sources here said, the United States is due to invite the Syngman Rhee government to assign a representative to consult with American officials on policies to be followed in dealing with Communist governments in the Geneva meeting.

President Rhee indicated at Seoul today he will send a delegation to Geneva for the conference opening April 26, but he said he wants assurances and clarification on the American position regarding Korean negotiations there.

The Geneva conference was agreed upon by Russia and the Western powers at the Big Four meeting in Berlin last month. It will actually be two conferences, one concerned with negotiating a permanent settlement in divided Korea and the other aimed at negotiating peace in Indochina.

Planning for the policies and tactics to be followed by the free nations in these meetings will go into high gear when Secretary of State Dulles returns next weekend from the Inter-American Conference at Caracas, Venezuela.

The United States, Britain and France have invited South Korea and 13 United Nations members which contributed forces to the anti-Communist fight in Korea to participate in the conference. All except two or three of these have indicated they would attend. Russia, Red China and the North Korean Communist regime are due to represent the Communist side in the Korean discussions.

In the Indochina discussions, the principal conferees will be the Western powers, Russia and Red China, which are supposed to be joined by other interested states yet to be designated.

Diplomats said today the Korean negotiations will very likely develop the same kind of deadlock which the Berlin conference ran into over divided Germany.

The Western powers and their United Nations allies will almost certainly propose unification of the country through free elections in the conviction that anti-Communist forces would sweep to complete victory. The Communists probably will move for some kind of coalition between the Syngman Rhee and Red regimes in the belief that only by such a device can they hope eventually to take over all Korea.

There is no optimism here that any compromise can be found between these two positions. Nor for that matter is there any real hope now apparent of finding a formula satisfactory to both sides for settling the Indochina war.

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—Every dwelling in Baltimore must have a bath, hot water and toilet after 1956, decreed Dr. Huntington Williams, health commissioner, today.

Mahoney Says State Needs 'Businessman' As Its Next Governor

Candidate Attacks M'Keldin Spending

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP) — George P. Mahoney said tonight it's going to take a businessman as the next governor of Maryland to cut the recent spiraling cost of running the state.

"Certainly, it cannot be Governor McKeldin," said Mahoney, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

"Certainly it cannot be Mr. (H. C.) Byrd (Mahoney's Democratic opponent.)

"His name has become a byword for spending in Maryland. For a generation he has stood for bigger spending, bigger budgets, bigger money every year.

"Your choice must be a businessman."

Mahoney didn't name the remaining choice. But earlier in his prepared speech to the 11th Ward Democratic Club he described himself "as a businessman."

Mahoney said the "businessman" must keep asking the question "Where's the money coming from?" and so must the governor.

"As far as state government is concerned, there's only one answer to that question," he said. "The money comes from the taxpayers' pockets."

Mahoney, who is making his second try for the governor's nomination, said he wants "to take steps to level off the State's rate of spending."

Since Governor McKeldin was elected as a Republican in 1950, he said, "the total State budget has increased 55 per cent.

"The budget has been balanced by dipping into surpluses—surpluses which have been accumulated by taking money from the taxpayers before that money was needed."

In addition, he referred to a prediction that in the fiscal year 1955-56 "the State will receive between 15 and 20 million dollars less than it will spend — unless something is done to halt the present trend.

"Closing that 15 to 20 million dollar gap between income and spending will be the job of your next governor. Your next governor has two choices. He can let the spending go on merrily and raise taxes even higher. Or he can insist on efficient operation and cut the spending.

"Which of those courses will be followed is a question which depends entirely on the attitude and determination of the man you choose as your next governor. Who will that man be?"

Mahoney than expressed the opinion that he "cannot be" Gov. McKeldin or Byrd.

Merry-Go-Round

Lewis because what he said about gambling was true; so they prosecuted him.)

"It is for the good of nations, not for the emolument or aggrandisement of particular individuals, that government ought to be established," continued Paine. "The defects of every government . . . must be as open to discussion as the defects of a law, and it is a duty which every man owes to society to point them out . . . Those subjects (the reform and criticism of government) are always before a country as a matter of right, and cannot, without invading the general rights of that country, be made subjects for prosecution. On that ground I will meet Mr. Burke whenever he pleases."

So, as Tom Paine said nearly 200 years ago, if we are going to have good government and clean government, the right of Fulton Lewis to free and reasonable comment has to be protected, no matter how much I may disagree with him. For, once that right vanishes, the dividing line between free government we criticize in the Kremlin also vanishes.

Sorry to write such a long and solemn letter on such a solemn subject. I'll write a better one very soon.

State Says Pair Invested Only $1,000 In Garage

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—Albert Haar and Samuel Winik invested only $1,000 in a $294,000 garage being built for them, State's Attorney J. Harold Grady said today.

The rest of their share, about $43,000, in a deal with the city was put up by Dominic Piracci, the contractor building the garage for them, Grady said.

"While this was described as a loan, it was not in fact a loan, but a kickback," the state's attorney continued.

Grady's remarks were contained in his opening statement at the trial of Haar and Winik on charges of conspiring to defraud the city. They are the first of nine persons to be tried on indictments arising from investigation of the city's Off-Street Parking Commission. All have pleaded innocent.

The commission was authorized in 1948 to loan money to private enterprises to build garages. The city would underwrite up to 85 per cent of the cost, the owner paying back the loan from profits. The city entered into 18 such agreements and Piracci was contractor for more than half.

He is among the defendants awaiting trial along with J. Neil McCardell and C. Edward Jones, who resigned from the Parking Commission.

The state's attorney stated that Piracci overestimated the cost of constructing the garage by the amount he advanced Haar and Winik.

Piracci "sufficiently inflated the cost of construction" so that the $42,996 which the parking interests were to advance as its 15 per cent share to the commission could be supplied by Piracci, Grady said.

Grady said he had never been able to find that Haar and Winik had repaid the loan. The books of Piracci's company did not show that Haar and Winik "owed five cents," he added.

Wife Slayer Released From Pen On Parole

ANNAPOLIS, March 10 (AP)—John Henry Tillman, sentenced to life imprisonmment for the shotgun murder of his 18-year-old wife in 1938, has been released from the Penitentiary, the State Parole Board announced today.

Then 32, he was convicted in Baltimore County Circuit Court of slaying his wife at Reisterstown Nov. 13, 1938.

"I meant to kill her then and I mean it now," Tillman said at his trial.

The late Judge T. Scott Offutt said he was reluctant to impose a death sentence because of Tillman's mental condition. The defendant had been described as possessing the mentality of a child.

Washington Co. Sheriff's Office And Jail Probed

HAGERSTOWN, March 10 (AP) — Washington County Commissioner Chester F. Delphy said today an investigation is being made of the county sheriff's office and operations of the county jail.

He told of undercover agents posing as prisoners and said recordings had been made of interviews with prisoners on the jail conditions.

He said there were indications of drinking among jail prisoners.

The probe got underway more than a month ago and in a few days a full report will be made, according to the commissioner.

E. Leister Mobley, president of the commissioners, said he concurred in Delphey's announcement.

Delphey said the probe got underway after it was disclosed a deputy sheriff charged about $36 worth of gasoline to the county on a honeymoon trip to Florida last fall.

Delphey said there had been earlier complaints about the sheriff's office and the operation of the jail. He didn't go into detail. He said a probe of the gasoline incident touched off the full-scale investigation which he said was being conducted by the commissioners, State's Attorney John S. Hollyday and private investigators.

The probe has taken in conditions at the jail, including the distribution of food, Delphey did not elaborate today. He said a check has disclosed that at least one prisoner became intoxicated while in jail.

Delphey said slips signed by Deputy Michael Farrie, about 50, charging gasoline to the county, were returned to the county auditor's office in December. He said Farrie had made a trip to Florida in September.

The commissioner said that at an executive session of the commissioners the deputy explained the gasoline charges by saying the county owed him two tires and he was simply squaring the account.

Candidate Would Donate His Salary To Firefighters

CAMBRIDGE, Md., March 10 (AP) —Emerson Seward today filed his candidacy for the democratic nomination for sheriff of Dorchester County and presented a most unusual platform.

"If elected," Seward said, "I expect to donate the sheriff's salary to the fire department of Dorchester County, the people who have done so much for so little."

Seward, a native Dorchester countian, served a four-year term as deputy sheriff several years ago. He is now employed by the county commissioners.

P. & G. Official Kills Self

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—Fred W. Hopkins, 45, office manager of the Procter & Gamble Manufacturing Co. here, was found shot to death yesterday in the factory warehouse.

Dr. William V. Lovitt, deputy medical examiner, said Hopkins died of a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Man Turns Himself Into Human Torch

TOWSON, Md., March 10 (AP)—A neighbor of Kenneth Ohs was awakened by screams early today. Looking out the window, he saw Ohs on fire from head to foot.

Ohs asked police when they arrived to give him a gun "to end it."

An empty tin can which had contained gasoline was found nearby.

The 38-year-old Ohs died six hours later. His mother said he had been depressed lately, but she didn't know why.

Mahoney, who is making his second try for the governor's nomination, said he wants "to take steps to level off the State's rate of spending."

Since Governor McKeldin was elected as a Republican in 1950, he said, "the total State budget has increased 55 per cent.

"The budget has been balanced by dipping into surpluses—surpluses which have been accumulated by taking money from the taxpayers before that money was needed."

In addition, he referred to a prediction that in the fiscal year 1955-56 "the State will receive between 15 and 20 million dollars less than it will spend — unless something is done to halt the present trend.

"Closing that 15 to 20 million dollar gap between income and spending will be the job of your next governor. Your next governor has two choices. He can let the spending go on merrily and raise taxes even higher. Or he can insist on efficient operation and cut the spending.

"Which of those courses will be followed is a question which depends entirely on the attitude and determination of the man you choose as your next governor. Who will that man be?"

Mahoney than expressed the opinion that he "cannot be" Gov. McKeldin or Byrd.

Lewis because what he said about gambling was true; so they prosecuted him.)

"It is for the good of nations, not for the emolument or aggrandisement of particular individuals, that government ought to be established," continued Paine. "The defects of every government . . . must be as open to discussion as the defects of a law, and it is a duty which every man owes to society to point them out . . . Those subjects (the reform and criticism of government) are always before a country as a matter of right, and cannot, without invading the general rights of that country, be made subjects for prosecution. On that ground I will meet Mr. Burke whenever he pleases."

So, as Tom Paine said nearly 200 years ago, if we are going to have good government and clean government, the right of Fulton Lewis to free and reasonable comment has to be protected, no matter how much I may disagree with him. For, once that right vanishes, the dividing line between free government we criticize in the Kremlin also vanishes.

Sorry to write such a long and solemn letter on such a solemn subject. I'll write a better one very soon.

State Says Pair Invested Only $1,000 In Garage

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—Albert Haar and Samuel Winik invested only $1,000 in a $294,000 garage being built for them, State's Attorney J. Harold Grady said today.

The rest of their share, about $43,000, in a deal with the city was put up by Dominic Piracci, the contractor building the garage for them, Grady said.

"While this was described as a loan, it was not in fact a loan, but a kickback," the state's attorney continued.

Grady's remarks were contained in his opening statement at the trial of Haar and Winik on charges of conspiring to defraud the city. They are the first of nine persons to be tried on indictments arising from investigation of the city's Off-Street Parking Commission. All have pleaded innocent.

The commission was authorized in 1948 to loan money to private enterprises to build garages. The city would underwrite up to 85 per cent of the cost, the owner paying back the loan from profits. The city entered into 18 such agreements and Piracci was contractor for more than half.

He is among the defendants awaiting trial along with J. Neil McCardell and C. Edward Jones, who resigned from the Parking Commission.

The state's attorney stated that Piracci overestimated the cost of constructing the garage by the amount he advanced Haar and Winik.

Piracci "sufficiently inflated the cost of construction" so that the $42,996 which the parking interests were to advance as its 15 per cent share to the commission could be supplied by Piracci, Grady said.

Grady said he had never been able to find that Haar and Winik had repaid the loan. The books of Piracci's company did not show that Haar and Winik "owed five cents," he added.

Wife Slayer Released From Pen On Parole

ANNAPOLIS, March 10 (AP)—John Henry Tillman, sentenced to life imprisonmment for the shotgun murder of his 18-year-old wife in 1938, has been released from the Penitentiary, the State Parole Board announced today.

Tillman was one of 39 inmates of Maryland penal institutions paroled during February.

Then 32, he was convicted in Baltimore County Circuit Court of slaying his wife at Reisterstown Nov. 13, 1938.

"I meant to kill her then and I mean it now," Tillman said at his trial.

The late Judge T. Scott Offutt said he was reluctant to impose a death sentence because of Tillman's mental condition. The defendant had been described as possessing the mentality of a child.

Washington Co. Sheriff's Office And Jail Probed

HAGERSTOWN, March 10 (AP) — Washington County Commissioner Chester F. Delphy said today an investigation is being made of the county sheriff's office and operations of the county jail.

He told of undercover agents posing as prisoners and said recordings had been made of interviews with prisoners on the jail conditions.

He said there were indications of drinking among jail prisoners.

The probe got underway more than a month ago and in a few days a full report will be made, according to the commissioner.

E. Leister Mobley, president of the commissioners, said he concurred in Delphey's announcement.

Delphey said the probe got underway after it was disclosed a deputy sheriff charged about $36 worth of gasoline to the county on a honeymoon trip to Florida last fall.

Delphey said there had been earlier complaints about the sheriff's office and the operation of the jail. He didn't go into detail. He said a probe of the gasoline incident touched off the full-scale investigation which he said was being conducted by the commissioners, State's Attorney John S. Hollyday and private investigators.

The probe has taken in conditions at the jail, including the distribution of food, Delphey did not elaborate today. He said a check has disclosed that at least one prisoner became intoxicated while in jail.

Delphey said slips signed by Deputy Michael Farrie, about 50, charging gasoline to the county, were returned to the county auditor's office in December. He said Farrie had made a trip to Florida in September.

The commissioner said that at an executive session of the commissioners the deputy explained the gasoline charges by saying the county owed him two tires and he was simply squaring the account.

Candidate Would Donate His Salary To Firefighters

CAMBRIDGE, Md., March 10 (AP) —Emerson Seward today filed his candidacy for the democratic nomination for sheriff of Dorchester County and presented a most unusual platform.

"If elected," Seward said, "I expect to donate the sheriff's salary to the fire department of Dorchester County, the people who have done so much for so little."

Seward, a native Dorchester countian, served a four-year term as deputy sheriff several years ago. He is now employed by the county commissioners.

Man Turns Himself Into Human Torch

TOWSON, Md., March 10 (AP)—A neighbor of Kenneth Ohs was awakened by screams early today. Looking out the window, he saw Ohs on fire from head to foot.

Ohs asked police when they arrived to give him a gun "to end it."

An empty tin can which had contained gasoline was found nearby.

Bruce Senior Chosen Over Seven Others

Farrady Legion Post Presents Dave Watch At 5th Annual Affair

FROSTBURG, March 10 — Easy-going, hard-playing Dave Marple, Bruce High School senior, was the recipient of the fifth annual Georges Creek Sportsmanship award last night at the dinner program held in Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion hall here.

Marple, high-scoring center on Bruce's district Class B basketball team, was given the nod over teammate Mike Nofsinger and six other players from Valley, Mt. Savage and Beall high schools.

Six-foot-three Dave was the bellwether of the Bruce quintet which has won 21 of 24 games this year and will play Friday and Saturday at College Park in the state cage finals. He topped the WMI scorers with 210 points in 10 contests and finished high among the district scorers for the season.

A hard player he was a dependable teammate and excellent adversary, always courteous but always a fighter.

Ramey Announces Choice

The choice by the selection committee, announced by Chairman Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of athletics for Allegany County Board of Education, was a popular one among the approximately 165 guests who attended the affair.

Outstanding Player To Play In Garden

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP) — Frank Selvy of Furman, Ed Conlin of Fordham and Coach Johnny Jordan of Notre Dame were honored by the Metropolitan Basketball Writers Assn. today at the group's annual awards affair.

Selvy, who completely rewrote the record book with his amazing scoring this winter, was given the 10th Gold Star Award as the outstanding visiting player to appear in New York this season. Among his records was the 42 points he scored in Furman's victory over Manhattan, the highest total by a college player in the Garden during the season.

Conlin, who oddly did not play at all in the Garden, was given the 14th Haggerty Award as the outstanding metropolitan player.

Dukes, Niagara To Meet Tonight

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—Duquesne meets Niagara and Western Kentucky takes on Holy Cross tomorrow night in the first semi-final in National Invitation Basketball Tournament history which matches the top four seeded teams.

"Cinderella team" climaxes in the Madison Square Garden tourney have been as common as windy days in March since the NIT was inaugurated in 1938. This year the closest thing to a real surprise would be a Niagara victory in Saturday's final.

Fourth-seeded Niagara (22-5) faces Duquesne's top-seeded Dukes (25-2) in tomorrow's 7:45 p.m. opener. Second-seeded Western Kentucky (29-1) and third-seeded Holy Cross (24-2) will have it out in the windup starting about 9:30 p.m.

Duquesne, the nation's third-ranking quintet, and Western Kentucky, fourth-ranked, are favored to gain the championship round.

Dudey Moore's Dukes, led by Dick Ricketts, Si Green and Jim Tucker, beat Niagara twice this season but had to go all out both times. The Dukes had to come from behind to win 66-61 in the final of the Holiday Festival Tourney in the Garden in December. They won the next one from the scrappy Purple Eagles, 61-53, at Buffalo.

Duquesne was pressed all the way last night to squeeze by St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., 69-63. Niagara edged Dayton Monday, 77-74.

"They'll have to go out and hustle a lot more against Niagara," said Moore. "Niagara fights all the way."

Holy Cross' Sugar Bowl Tournament kings gained the semifinal with an easy 93-69 win last night over St. Francis of Brooklyn. Western Kentucky's big, fast-breaking squad had moved up with a 95-81 victory over Bowling Green Monday.

FROSTBURG, March 10 — Easy-going, hard-playing Dave Marple, Bruce High School senior, was the recipient of the fifth annual Georges Creek Sportsmanship award last night at the dinner program held in Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion hall here.

Six-foot-three Dave was the bellwether of the Bruce quintet which has won 21 of 24 games this year and will play Friday and Saturday at College Park in the state cage finals. He topped the WMI scorers with 210 points in 10 contests and finished high among the district scorers for the season.

A hard player he was a dependable teammate and excellent adversary, always courteous but always a fighter.

Outstanding Player To Play In Garden

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP) — Frank Selvy of Furman, Ed Conlin of Fordham and Coach Johnny Jordan of Notre Dame were honored by the Metropolitan Basketball Writers Assn. today at the group's annual awards affair.

Selvy, who completely rewrote the record book with his amazing scoring this winter, was given the 10th Gold Star Award as the outstanding visiting player to appear in New York this season. Among his records was the 42 points he scored in Furman's victory over Manhattan, the highest total by a college player in the Garden during the season.

Conlin, who oddly did not play at all in the Garden, was given the 14th Haggerty Award as the outstanding metropolitan player.

Dukes, Niagara To Meet Tonight

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—Duquesne meets Niagara and Western Kentucky takes on Holy Cross tomorrow night in the first semi-final in National Invitation Basketball Tournament history which matches the top four seeded teams.

"Cinderella team" climaxes in the Madison Square Garden tourney have been as common as windy days in March since the NIT was inaugurated in 1938. This year the closest thing to a real surprise would be a Niagara victory in Saturday's final.

Fourth-seeded Niagara (22-5) faces Duquesne's top-seeded Dukes (25-2) in tomorrow's 7:45 p.m. opener. Second-seeded Western Kentucky (29-1) and third-seeded Holy Cross (24-2) will have it out in the windup starting about 9:30 p.m.

Duquesne, the nation's third-ranking quintet, and Western Kentucky, fourth-ranked, are favored to gain the championship round.

Dudey Moore's Dukes, led by Dick Ricketts, Si Green and Jim Tucker, beat Niagara twice this season but had to go all out both times. The Dukes had to come from behind to win 66-61 in the final of the Holiday Festival Tournament in the Garden in December. They won the next one from the scrappy Purple Eagles, 61-53, at Buffalo.

Duquesne was pressed all the way last night to squeeze by St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., 69-63. Niagara edged Dayton Monday, 77-74.

"They'll have to go out and hustle a lot more against Niagara," said Moore. "Niagara fights all the way."

Holy Cross' Sugar Bowl Tournament kings gained the semifinal with an easy 93-69 win last night over St. Francis of Brooklyn. Western Kentucky's big, fast-breaking squad had moved up with a 95-81 victory over Bowling Green Monday.

Another Flag For Brooklyn Looms As Club Looks Solid

Infielder Don Zimmer

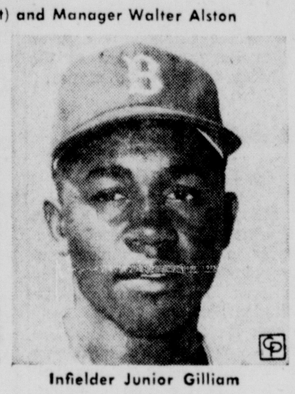
Infielder Don Hoak

Pitcher Don LaSorda



Infielder Junior Gilliam

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams.

VERO BEACH, Fla. — Overcautious to the point of almost not admitting he is the manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Walter Alston, the lanky new bench boss of the Flatbush Flock, should finally get to see his first World Series in person next October.

He has never seen one in person although he has been knocking around the minors for 16 years. As the surprise replacement for the pop-off Charlie Dressen, the scholarly former mentor of Montreal inherits a solid team, loaded with front-line and secondary talent and yet he faces a big job.

The Dodgers are regarded a shoo-in for the National league flag again. Alston will have to uphold that buildup plus do better than his predecessors have done in the October classic.

Talk about his team? Sure, he is pleasant to talk with. Say anything? Well, he won't give you a lineup but you know it will be Roy Campanella behind the plate, Gil Hodges on first, Junior Gilliam on second, Peewee Reese at short, Billy Cox at third, Jackie Robinson in left, Duke Snider in center and Carl Furillo in right with four starting pitchers in Don Newcombe, Carl Erskine, Billy Loes and Russ Meyer.

TALK ABOUT the rest of the league? Well, like this: "I haven't any right to talk about the other clubs. I haven't seen them. I've played ball long enough to know that everybody's tough to beat."

Does he think he will be in the October classic? "All I know," he says politely, "is that we have 154 games to play."

What about Jackie Robinson? Where will he play? "I understand," he says, "that Robbie does pretty good anywhere."

How does Alston look at his new job?

"It's like a horse race," he answers. "If you had the mount on a good horse or a bad one which one would you take?"

But Walt opens up a little bit more: "The job does have some drawbacks. They all expect you to win. It's a pretty big job and I'm appreciative of the chance they have given me. I've been in the Brooklyn organization since 1945 and I've had 25 of these players."

ALSTON has some added names on the roster besides the regulars and the second-line replacements. While few admit that any of them have much chance to break into this lineup, there is always that chance.

For example, Alston has several boys from Montreal, where he won the flag. Included are such pitchers as Hamp Coleman (8-4); Tom LaSorda (17-8); Ken Lehman (13-9); Glenn Mickens (2-0) and Ed Roebuck (15-14) and certainly he must say something about them. He does:

"All five of those pitchers did well for me at Montreal last season, particularly in the second half. But each has his own merits and I'd rate them having an equal chance. For example, one has a better fast ball and the second perhaps a better curve ball.

ALSTON was interrupted and asked if he would name the fastball pitchers. "Oh, I don't think I should do that," he said. "We'd be giving away secrets." It was learned, however, that LaSorda may be the most promising. Alston admitted he had "courage and determination."

While the Dodger front-line hurlers and the replacements are top-drawer stuff, there are two new names which should be mentioned. Erv Palica, for example, has come out of the service and many predict he may be a 20-game winner.

Pete Wojey (Wojciechowski), a righthander who is 29 years old and has had several seasons in the minors, comes up off a fine record at Fort Worth, where he won 14 and lost 9.

Don Newcombe, the big fellow who won 20 games for the Bums before he went into the service, reportedly looks great and has his weight down to about 230.

Charlie Thompson, a .293 hitter with Montreal, is one of the new catchers about but no one will unseat Campanella, who had a minor operation during the winter and feels better than ever.

WHILE the infield is set, there are three newcomers who are being groomed for front-line jobs when the vets call it quits. They include Don Hoak, a third sacker from Montreal who is reported ready; Don Zimmer, the St. Paul shortstop star who was groomed for Reese's place at short, and Jim Baxes, another infielder, who had a good year with Fort Worth. Zimmer was beaned last year but reports are that he's not plate-shy.

There are 11 outfielders in camp but chances of eight of them rest on the health or tumble of the three star regulars, Duke Snider, Robinson and Carl Furillo.

The Dodgers won the pennant last year by 13 games with the club most likely to succeed this year, Milwaukee, in second spot.

DATA ON THE DODGERS

Bratton Fined $3,000 For Poor Fight Effort

PHILADELPHIA, March 10 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission today clapped a $3,000 fine on boxer Johnny Bratton, charging he was "not putting forth his best efforts" in a losing bout against Johnny Saxton here Feb. 24.

The money is to be deducted from Bratton's share of $4,750 in the gate receipts, Commission Chairman Frank Wiener said. The commission had ordered Bratton's purse held up and suspended him indefinitely the day after the fight.

Today's announcement by the commission made no reference to lifting the suspension.

Ivy Is Named Edmonton Coach

EDMONTON, March 10 (AP) — Frank Ivy, former Oklahoma and Chicago Cardinals player, today was named head coach of the Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The 38-year-old assistant coach at Oklahoma, succeeds Darrell Royal who was released by Edmonton so he could take over as head coach at Mississippi State.

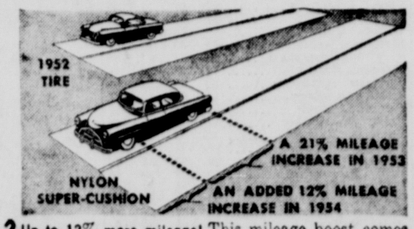
New 1954 All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushion

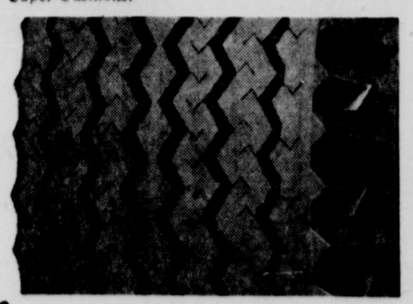
All-Nylon Cord! Up to 80% stronger than standard tires!
And now! 3 great 1954 Extras!
✔ Even more mileage than last year!
✔ Much greater skid protection than in 1953!
✔ Quieter ride—less squeal on turns!

COSTS ONLY A FEW DOLLARS MORE THAN A STANDARD TIRE! NO OTHER TIRE AT OR NEAR ITS PRICE CAN MATCH IT!

1 Hits test curb at 55 mph! Not a cord broken! This is just one of the punishing tests this All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushion has taken! In fact, impact blowouts are almost unheard of with All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushions.



2 Up to 12% more mileage! This mileage boost comes right on the heels of a 21% increase in 1953. Total . . . almost ⅓ more safe mileage than most motorists ever experienced before! That's real money in your pocket in reduced driving costs.



3 Quieter ride! 15% greater traction! That squeal on turns has been practically eliminated by a new anti-vibration tread design. And this new tread has 1806 inches of nonskid edges, 880 deep-cut safety slots for 15% greater skid resistance. You'll get quicker, safer stops, better skid resistance with this new tire.

There's a big difference in Nylon cord! Only Goodyear has Triple-Tempered 3-T Nylon!

Nylon is the best tire cord—if the stretch can be controlled. Nylon is naturally stronger, pound for pound, than steel; it makes a lighter weight, cooler running, longer wearing tire. But, unless properly pre-conditioned, Nylon stretches under tension.

To control the stretch in Nylon cord, Goodyear has developed an exclusive process of chemically treating the cord and then putting it through a triple-tempering process involving Tension, Temperature and Time. The result—Goodyear's Triple-Tempered 3-T Nylon Cord—the Nylon cord that is fully controlled at its point of maximum strength and resiliency.

Be sure your Nylon cord tires are made with Triple-Tempered 3-T Nylon Cord—and that means Goodyear!

Another Flag For Brooklyn Looms As Club Looks Solid

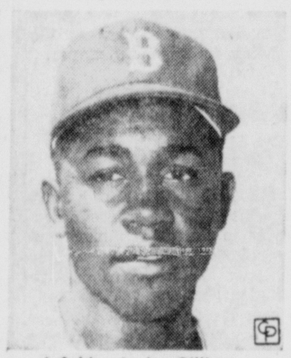
Infielder Don Hoak

Pitcher Don LaSorda



Infielder Junior Gilliam

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams.

VERO BEACH, Fla. — Overcautious to the point of almost not admitting he is the manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Walter Alston, the lanky new bench boss of the Flatbush Flock, should finally get to see his first World Series in person next October.

He has never seen one in person although he has been knocking around the minors for 16 years. As the surprise replacement for the pop-off Charlie Dressen, the scholarly former mentor of Montreal inherits a solid team, loaded with front-line and secondary talent and yet he faces a big job.

The Dodgers are regarded a shoo-in for the National league flag again. Alston will have to uphold that buildup plus do better than his predecessors have done in the October classic.

Talk about his team? Sure, he is pleasant to talk with. Say anything? Well, he won't give you a lineup but you know it will be Roy Campanella behind the plate, Gil Hodges on first, Junior Gilliam on second, Peewee Reese at short, Billy Cox at third, Jackie Robinson in left, Duke Snider in center and Carl Furillo in right with four starting pitchers in Don Newcombe, Carl Erskine, Billy Loes and Russ Meyer.

TALK ABOUT the rest of the league? Well, like this: "I haven't any right to talk about the other clubs. I haven't seen them. I've played ball long enough to know that everybody's tough to beat."

Does he think he will be in the October classic? "All I know," he says politely, "is that we have 154 games to play."

What about Jackie Robinson? Where will he play? "I understand," he says, "that Robbie does pretty good anywhere."

How does Alston look at his new job?

"It's like a horse race," he answers. "If you had the mount on a good horse or a bad one which one would you take?"

But Walt opens up a little bit more: "The job does have some drawbacks. They all expect you to win. It's a pretty big job and I'm appreciative of the chance they have given me. I've been in the Brooklyn organization since 1945 and I've had 25 of these players."

ALSTON has some added names on the roster besides the regulars and the second-line replacements. While few admit that any of them have much chance to break into this lineup, there is always that chance.

For example, Alston has several boys from Montreal, where he won the flag. Included are such pitchers as Hamp Coleman (8-4); Tom LaSorda (17-8); Ken Lehman (13-9); Glenn Mickens (2-0) and Ed Roebuck (15-14) and certainly he must say something about them. He does:

"All five of those pitchers did well for me at Montreal last season, particularly in the second half. But each has his own merits and I'd rate them having an equal chance. For example, one has a better fast ball and the second perhaps a better curve ball.

ALSTON was interrupted and asked if he would name the fastball pitchers. "Oh, I don't think I should do that," he said. "We'd be giving away secrets." It was learned, however, that LaSorda may be the most promising. Alston admitted he had "courage and determination."

While the Dodger front-line hurlers and the replacements are top-drawer stuff, there are two new names which should be mentioned. Erv Palica, for example, has come out of the service and many predict he may be a 20-game winner.

Pete Wojey (Wojciechowski), a righthander who is 29 years old and has had several seasons in the minors, comes up off a fine record at Fort Worth, where he won 14 and lost 9.

Don Newcombe, the big fellow who won 20 games for the Bums before he went into the service, reportedly looks great and has his weight down to about 230.

Charlie Thompson, a .293 hitter with Montreal, is one of the new catchers about but no one will unseat Campanella, who had a minor operation during the winter and feels better than ever.

WHILE the infield is set, there are three newcomers who are being groomed for front-line jobs when the vets call it quits. They include Don Hoak, a third sacker from Montreal who is reported ready; Don Zimmer, the St. Paul shortstop star who was groomed for Reese's place at short, and Jim Baxes, another infielder, who had a good year with Fort Worth. Zimmer was beaned last year but reports are that he's not plate-shy.

There are 11 outfielders in camp but chances of eight of them rest on the health or tumble of the three star regulars, Duke Snider, Robinson and Carl Furillo.

The Dodgers won the pennant last year by 13 games with the club most likely to succeed this year, Milwaukee, in second spot.

DATA ON THE DODGERS

Bratton Fined $3,000 For Poor Fight Effort

PHILADELPHIA, March 10 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission today clapped a $3,000 fine on boxer Johnny Bratton, charging he was "not putting forth his best efforts" in a losing bout against Johnny Saxton here Feb. 24.

The money is to be deducted from Bratton's share of $4,750 in the gate receipts, Commission Chairman Frank Wiener said. The commission had ordered Bratton's purse held up and suspended him indefinitely the day after the fight.

Today's announcement by the commission made no reference to lifting the suspension.

Ivy Is Named Edmonton Coach

EDMONTON, March 10 (AP) — Frank Ivy, former Oklahoma and Chicago Cardinals player, today was named head coach of the Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The 38-year-old assistant coach at Oklahoma, succeeds Darrell Royal who was released by Edmonton so he could take over as head coach at Mississippi State.

- Quieter ride—less squeal on turns!

COSTS ONLY A FEW DOLLARS MORE THAN A STANDARD TIRE! NO OTHER TIRE AT OR NEAR ITS PRICE CAN MATCH IT!

2 Up to 12% more mileage! This mileage boost comes right on the heels of a 21% increase in 1953. Total . . . almost ⅓ more safe mileage than most motorists ever experienced before! That's real money in your pocket in reduced driving costs.

3 Quieter ride! 15% greater traction! That squeal on turns has been practically eliminated by a new anti-vibration tread design. NCAA Lineups Are Completed For Tournament

Colorado Is Chosen Big 7 Representative

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—The field was completed today for the second round of the national basketball collegiate championships with the drawing of Colorado as the Big Seven Conference representative.

Colorado had tied Kansas for the conference championship and the Buffaloes won the draw to see which would represent the Big Seven. Colorado will play Bradley in a four-team tournament at Stillwater, Okla., one of four such regional events to be held Friday and Saturday. The four winners go to Kansas City to battle March 19—20 for the national championship won last year by Indiana.

Regional tournaments also are scheduled for Philadelphia, Iowa City, and Corvallis, Ore, Friday and Saturday.

In the other game Friday at Stillwater, Rice, Southwest Conference champion, meets Oklahoma A & M, ruler of the Missouri Valley loop.

Indiana, rated the nation's No. 2 team in the latest Associated Press poll, meets Notre Dame, No. 6, in one game at Iowa City, Penn State plays Louisiana State in the other.

At Philadelphia, Navy plays Cornell, the Ivy League champion, while North Carolina State, Atlantic Coast champion, meets LaSalle.

NCAA Lineups Are Completed For Tournament

Colorado Is Chosen Big 7 Representative

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—The field was completed today for the second round of the national basketball collegiate championships with the drawing of Colorado as the Big Seven Conference representative.

Colorado had tied Kansas for the conference championship and the Buffaloes won the draw to see which would represent the Big Seven. Colorado will play Bradley in a four-team tournament at Stillwater, Okla., one of four such regional events to be held Friday and Saturday. The four winners go to Kansas City to battle March 19—20 for the national championship won last year by Indiana.

Missouri tossed a monkey wrench into the works last night by upsetting favored Kansas 76-67.

Regional tournaments also are scheduled for Philadelphia, Iowa City, and Corvallis, Ore, Friday and Saturday.

In the other game Friday at Stillwater, Rice, Southwest Conference champion, meets Oklahoma A & M, ruler of the Missouri Valley loop.

Bids Requested On New Bridge At Kitzmiller

KITZMILLER — Bids for construction of a new bridge over the Potomac River at Kitzmiller in Garrett County were asked in Baltimore yesterday by the State Roads Commission.

The commission estimated cost at $375,000 in its 12-year highway building program last year. The bridge is part of the plans to relocate and improve Route 38 through Kitzmiller.

The bids are to be opened April 6.

The five-span 227-foot bridge will have a clear roadway of 28 feet with five-foot walks on either side. It will be built above the flood level of the Potomac in the Kitzmiller-Blaine area.

Approximately 650 feet of roadway will be relocated on the West Virginia approach to the bridge, and specifications provide for the relocation of approximately 1,200 feet of roadway on the Maryland side.

Westernport-Luke Taxpayers League Reports To Members On Assessment Probe

WESTERNPORT — Since a mass meeting of 90 taxpayers of the Westernport-Luke areas on February 17, league officers and the executive committee have met several times and report that interest and progress is gaining steadily.

According to Mrs. F. Z. Callis, secretary of the Westernport-Luke Taxpayers League, there are now over 600 people who have joined the league and more memberships are being received almost daily.

In a news letter issued to all members, Mrs. Callis reports that 414 assessment appeals have been delivered to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners. Roy Mulledy has been employed to obtain information relative to property assessments and has obtained some basic data from the town's tax books.

The letter reports that twice Mulledy went to the Court House to examine assessor's field cards listing recent assessments made in this area. On February 26, it is pointed out, he was discouraged from obtaining data on the basis that the cards were being revised.

On March 3, he was permitted access to the cards for about one hour and was denied further use on the basis that the assessor had to take the cards with him to Westernport.

On March 4, the Tax League officers called the supervisor of assessments and were informed that the cards were in use and not available. On being requested to make the cards available in the evenings, League officers claim the supervisor said their legal right to see the cards was questionable.

On March 5, League officers called the president of the Board of County Commissioners, and were told that the Commissioners' attorney was investigating with the State Tax Commission the right of the League to see the assessment cards.

It was emphasized to the County Board president, the League claims, that the League was interested only in the recent assessment figures as listed on the Notices of Assessments sent to property owners by the County Commissioners, and that the League was agreeable to receiving the information through any means at any hour of the day.

On Saturday, March 8, the supervisor of assessments informed a League representative that the State Tax Commission had ruled that the League was not to be permitted to examine the assessment cards. The League received a letter from the State Tax Commission on March 8, stating that the commission had so ruled.

The League feels, the newsletter continues, that this assessment information is public information and that anyone should have access to such property assessment figures at any time.

The League contends the figures are needed in their efforts to show that recent assessments in the Westernport-Luke area were excessively increased and constitute discriminatory action against the area.

Bids Requested On New Bridge At Kitzmiller

KITZMILLER — Bids for construction of a new bridge over the Potomac River at Kitzmiller in Garrett County were asked in Baltimore yesterday by the State Roads Commission.

The commission estimated cost at $375,000 in its 12-year highway building program last year. The bridge is part of the plans to relocate and improve Route 38 through Kitzmiller.

The bids are to be opened April 6.

The five-span 227-foot bridge will have a clear roadway of 28 feet with five-foot walks on either side. It will be built above the flood level of the Potomac in the Kitzmiller-Blaine area.

Approximately 650 feet of roadway will be relocated on the West Virginia approach to the bridge, and specifications provide for the relocation of approximately 1,200 feet of roadway on the Maryland side.

The new span will replace an obsolete one-way bridge built more than 50 years ago and which was damaged in the 1936 flood.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 10—(INS)—Over on the Universal-International lot Lex Barker and Mala Powers are rehearsing scenes for "Nevada Gold," which starts in another two weeks.

Since half of it will be made in Nevada, that means that Lex and Lana Turner will have to be separated while he's on location. Of course, if she hasn't already started her own picture she'll go with him.

Jesse Hibbs, who, they tell me, is a young and up-coming director, has been chosen for this all-out western. I am glad for Mala. Looks like this is the best acting chance she's ever had.

Very soon the widow of the late Ben Bernie will arrive from Miami to work on the life story of Ben with Academy Winner Douglas Morrow. Herman Bernie, Ben's brother and the Old Maestro's business representative for many years, made the deal.

Sid Caesar is the favorite to play the beloved Ben Bernie, who was one of the sweetest people I have ever met in my many years of reporting. He was a very good friend of Walter Winchell's and they had a fake feud, all of which will be duly recorded.

She was in—then she was out—now she's back in. I mean Gloria De Haven who signed at U-I today for "Three Gobs in Paris."

Although Gloria's contract is non-exclusive, she'll make one picture a year for Universal-International. She looks great these days and this should start her rolling again as a musical cutie.

Just before Jesse Lasky left Cedars of Lebanon Hospital he telephoned very excited over an offer he's had to put his "Gateway to Hollywood" on television. This is the same talent show Jesse had on radio a few years ago and among the "discoveries" he made were Linda Darnell, Gale Storm, Lee Bonnell, John Archer and several others.

Gale Storm and Lee Bonnell met on the Lasky show — and they've been grateful to him ever since for bringing them together. Theirs has been a long and happy marriage.

On TV, Jesse will again select talented newcomers throughout the country.

Just for the record — Frank Sinatra is here in town. He came in a few days ago from Palm Springs. He'll be on Bing Crosby's radio show, so the New York and Rome trips are cancelled.

Phil Harris and Alice Faye have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Perry Como at the Thunderbird in Palm Springs.

At Ciro's to hear Julius La Rosa was Carol Lee Ladd, Alan's pretty daughter, with Craig Hill. And, by the way, Susie Ladd looks wonderful — she's lost pounds. Alan has gained a little but on him it looks good.

Ricardo Montalban is very concerned over his older sister, Carmen Lamberta, who is very ill in a Mexico hospital.

See Your Dentist Every Day

When it comes to common sense about security let's take the birds. Did you ever hear of one building a nest under a bicycle seat?

We guaranteed complete privacy in the European invasion by putting the field telephones in charge of Sioux Indians. The Shickelgruber guards are still trying to pick the bones out of that one.

The Army claims it was hep to Major Peress all the time and had given him the testimonial dinner treatment. They dropped him with the dining car at Schenectady.

We can't figure what havoc a dentist can manipulate in times of national stress and peril. Could he louse up international safety by forwarding the Kremlin the floor plans of General Eisenhower's upper plate?

Most important direction of the finger-pointing has been overglanced by Interlocutor McCarthy. That's why a dentist has to be a major to lance gum boils?

Safety Award Is Won By Local PE Division

The Cumberland Division of the Potomac Edison System was among the 22 divisions of the power and electric company which have been awarded safety plaques for completing 1953 without recording a single lost-time accident. Other area districts which also received safety awards were Hagerstown, Taneytown, Frederick and Frostburg.

Awards presented locally went to the River Plant and the Substation Construction Department.

Permit Is Granted For Myrtle Street Dwelling

Richard H. Bittinger, 1035 Myrtle Street obtained a permit yesterday from the building engineer to construct a brick dwelling at 41 Myrtle Street in Twiggs Addition.

The one and a half story structure will cost $3,600, measure 24 by 24 feet and have a concrete block foundation.

Mayor Eves Cuts Head Above Eye In Fall

Mayor Roy W. Eves was shaken up and suffered a cut above the right eye Tuesday in a fall while crossing the yard tracks at the B&O Bolt and Forge Shop where he is superintendent.

The cut did not require stitches but the Mayor was treated at Memorial Hospital. He was on the job yesterday at City Hall.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

You can have attractive nails all of the time. Remember, nails that are consistently cared for are less subject to beauty damage, so take a minute every day to apply cuticle oil and they will grow in a more attractive shape. The nail that always wears a good coat of polish is protected against wear and tear.

The Professional Look

When you perform manicure rites regularly, you acquire the skill of a professional. This practice enables you to give your nails a cared for look in the shortest possible time. But if you only perform such work now and then you are sure to do some bungling and perhaps even have to do the polish application several times before you can apply an acceptable coat. This can be a highly hazardous task when you are rushing to keep an appointment! Besides, the inept finish you achieve can be a dead give-away of past neglect.

If nature has not favored you with oval nails, which are the ideal, here's they way to make them appear so:

Square nails: Ovalize their appearance by allowing them to grow extra long and then shaping the tips. In this case, apply polish over the full length of the nail but leave a brief white strip on each side. If you do not like long nails, leave a deep moon showing, curve the sides considerably and leave the tips of the nail white.

Round nails: A strip of white on each side of the nail will ovalize their appearance.

Fastidious Detailing

Oblong nail: This shape can be enchanced with a fan-shaped application of polish. Round the tip and keep the polish well away from the sides of the nail.

Beautifully manicured nails accent your femininity in a most charming fashion. If you wish to be thought fastidious, never slip in their care!

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow: Your hat selection.

Allegany Seniors To Stage 'Father Of Bride' March 19

The title role in the comedy, "Father of the Bride," which is to be presented by the Senior Class at Allegany High School on March 19, has been assigned to Robert Hardman, and the other leading parts of the bride herself, her bridegroom-to-be, and her mother, will be filled by Jean Morton, Mason Sisk, and Peggy Dye respectively.

These are the roles which were acted originally in the famous movie version of Edward Streeter's novel, by Spencer Tracy, Elizabeth Taylor, Don Taylor, and Joan Bennett. Other parts in this comedy will be acted by Bruce Tierney and Eugene Crossland as the bride's younger brothers; Joan Bennett as a neighborhood friend; Betty Brewer and Nancye Hager as a secretary and a housemaid; and Bernie Beerman, Joel Jacobson, Ted Troxell, Glendon Kline and Marshall Yankelevitz as caterers, florists, movers and others who threw the bride's home into an uproar in arranging for the big wedding reception.

Streeter's book was at the top of the best-seller lists for a whole year, the movie was one of the most successful in many years, and now the delightful saga of the Banks family going through the ordeal of a wedding has become one of the most popular stage comedies in theatres throughout the country. Harold C. Wickard will direct.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 10—(INS)—Over on the Universal-International lot Lex Barker and Mala Powers are rehearsing scenes for "Nevada Gold," which starts in another two weeks.

Ross Hunter, who will produce the picture, says that Mala plays a girl of the early 90's, and the story revolves around a mine.

Since half of it will be made in Nevada, that means that Lex and Lana Turner will have to be separated while he's on location. Of course, if she hasn't already started her own picture she'll go with him.

Jesse Hibbs, who, they tell me, is a young and up-coming director, has been chosen for this all-out western. I am glad for Mala. Looks like this is the best acting chance she's ever had.

Very soon the widow of the late Ben Bernie will arrive from Miami to work on the life story of Ben with Academy Winner Douglas Morrow. Herman Bernie, Ben's brother and the Old Maestro's business representative for many years, made the deal.

Sid Caesar is the favorite to play the beloved Ben Bernie, who was one of the sweetest people I have ever met in my many years of reporting. He was a very good friend of Walter Winchell's and they had a fake feud, all of which will be duly recorded.

She was in—then she was out—now she's back in. I mean Gloria De Haven who signed at U-I today for "Three Gobs in Paris."

Although Gloria's contract is non-exclusive, she'll make one picture a year for Universal-International. She looks great these days and this should start her rolling again as a musical cutie.

Just before Jesse Lasky left Cedars of Lebanon Hospital he telephoned very excited over an offer he's had to put his "Gateway to Hollywood" on television. This is the same talent show Jesse had on radio a few years ago and among the "discoveries" he made were Linda Darnell, Gale Storm, Lee Bonnell, John Archer and several others.

Gale Storm and Lee Bonnell met on the Lasky show—and they've been grateful to him ever since for bringing them together. Theirs has been a long and happy marriage.

On TV, Jesse will again select talented newcomers throughout the country.

Just for the record — Frank Sinatra is here in town. He came in a few days ago from Palm Springs. He'll be on Bing Crosby's radio show, so the New York and Rome trips are cancelled.

Phil Harris and Alice Faye have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Perry Como at the Thunderbird in Palm Springs.

Dinah Shore gave a party for Eddie Fisher just before he took off for the East. Eddie has three interesting movie offers.

At Ciro's to hear Julius La Rosa was Carol Lee Ladd, Alan's pretty daughter, with Craig Hill. And, by the way, Susie Ladd looks wonderful—she's lost pounds. Alan has gained a little but on him it looks good.

Ricardo Montalban is very concerned over his older sister, Carmen Lamberta, who is very ill in a Mexico hospital.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

See Your Dentist Every Day

When it comes to common sense about security let's take the birds. Did you ever hear of one building a nest under a bicycle seat?

We guaranteed complete privacy in the European invasion by putting the field telephones in charge of Sioux Indians. The Shickelgruber guards are still trying to pick the bones out of that one.

The Army claims it was hep to Major Peress all the time and had given him the testimonial dinner treatment. They dropped him with the dining car at Schenectady.

We can't figure what havoc a dentist can manipulate in times of national stress and peril. Could he louse up international safety by forwarding the Kremlin the floor plans of General Eisenhower's upper plate?

Most important direction of the finger-pointing has been overglanced by Interlocutor McCarthy. That's why a dentist has to be a major to lance gum boils?

Safety Award Is Won By Local PE Division

The Cumberland Division of the Potomac Edison System was among the 22 divisions of the power and electric company which have been awarded safety plaques for completing 1953 without recording a single lost-time accident. Other area districts which also received safety awards were Hagerstown, Taneytown, Frederick and Frostburg.

Awards presented locally went to the River Plant and the Substation Construction Department.

Permit Is Granted For Myrtle Street Dwelling

Richard H. Bittinger, 1035 Myrtle Street obtained a permit yesterday from the building engineer to construct a brick dwelling at 41 Myrtle Street in Twiggs Addition.

The one and a half story structure will cost $3,600, measure 24 by 24 feet and have a concrete block foundation.

Mayor Eves Cuts Head Above Eye In Fall

Mayor Roy W. Eves was shaken up and suffered a cut above the right eye Tuesday in a fall while crossing the yard tracks at the B&O Bolt and Forge Shop where he is superintendent.

The cut did not require stitches but the Mayor was treated at Memorial Hospital. He was on the job yesterday at City Hall.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

You can have attractive nails all of the time. Remember, nails that are consistently cared for are less subject to beauty damage, so take a minute every day to apply cuticle oil and they will grow in a more attractive shape. The nail that always wears a good coat of polish is protected against wear and tear.

The Professional Look

Here's another reason why regular care pays dividends:

When you perform manicure rites regularly, you acquire the skill of a professional. This practice enables you to give your nails a cared for look in the shortest possible time. But if you only perform such work now and then you are sure to do some bungling and perhaps even have to do the polish application several times before you can apply an acceptable coat. This can be a highly hazardous task when you are rushing to keep an appointment! Besides, the inept finish you achieve can be a dead give-away of past neglect.

If nature has not favored you with oval nails, which are the ideal, here's they way to make them appear so:

Square nails: Ovalize their appearance by allowing them to grow extra long and then shaping the tips. In this case, apply polish over the full length of the nail but leave a brief white strip on each side. If you do not like long nails, leave a deep moon showing, curve the sides considerably and leave the tips of the nail white.

Round nails: A strip of white on each side of the nail will ovalize their appearance.

Fastidious Detailing

Small nails: Added importance as a beauty factor is gained by keeping them fairly long, ovalizing the tip and applying polish over the entire nail.

Oblong nail: This shape can be enchanced with a fan-shaped application of polish. Round the tip and keep the polish well away from the sides of the nail.

Beautifully manicured nails accent your femininity in a most charming fashion. If you wish to be thought fastidious, never slip in their care!

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow: Your hat selection.

Allegany Seniors To Stage 'Father Of Bride' March 19

The title role in the comedy, "Father of the Bride," which is to be presented by the Senior Class at Allegany High School on March 19, has been assigned to Robert Hardman, and the other leading parts of the bride herself, her bridegroom-to-be, and her mother, will be filled by Jean Morton, Mason Sisk, and Peggy Dye respectively.

These are the roles which were acted originally in the famous movie version of Edward Streeter's novel, by Spencer Tracy, Elizabeth Taylor, Don Taylor, and Joan Bennett. Other parts in this comedy will be acted by Bruce Tierney and Eugene Crossland as the bride's younger brothers; Joan Bennett as a neighborhood friend; Betty Brewer and Nancye Hager as a secretary and a housemaid; and Bernie Beerman, Joel Jacobson, Ted Troxell, Glendon Kline and Marshall Yankelevitz as caterers, florists, movers and others who throw the bride's home into an uproar in arranging for the big wedding reception.

Streeter's book was at the top of the best-seller lists for a whole year, the movie was one of the most successful in many years, and now the delightful saga of the Banks family going through the ordeal of a wedding has become one of the most popular stage comedies in theatres throughout the country. Harold C. Wickard will direct.

Truman Reiterates He Backs Adlai's Speech

ST. LOUIS, March 10 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman reiterated today that he endorsed Adlai E. Stevenson's Miami speech in which he charged the Republican party was divided against itself.

In St. Louis between trains on his way back to his Independence, Mo., home after a trip in the East, Truman made his comment upon learning President Eisenhower at his press conference today had labeled as nonsense Stevenson's statement that the Republican party was "half McCarthy and half Eisenhower."

RISK MISLEADING HIM

PLENTY of sound advice admonishes you not to mislead your partner when on the defense. If you are a keen competitor, though, you will recognize situations in which the danger of hurting your own side by unorthodox tactics is not so great as the chance for gain from misguiding the declarer. Usually the opportunity for such tactics is based on what you can read about the missing hands, from the bidding of the declarer and his partner and possibly from your own partner's bids, if there were any.

That bidding, with a mis-fit sound, made West think his opponents had badly matched holdings, but a goodly amount of high cards. So he decided he had better try to confuse the issue, which he did by starting with the diamond 8 lead. Placing the K with East, South used the A on that, then sent the spade Q through to the K. This time West brought forth the diamond 7, whereat South decided West might have the J but not the K, so inserted the 10, the J cover forcing a ruff. the spade J being used.

South, thoroughly upset now, led the heart 6, which the 10 won. West also scored the A and led the spade 9, which the 10 was able to win because South had ruffed high earlier. The club 9 brought the 10 and J, the A was laid down and the 2 was ruffed by the spade 5. If you followed the play to this point and noted what was yet unplayed, you could see that South stood to win only one more trick, with the spade A.

Consequently South was down three, largely due to the off-key leading of diamonds by West. Just notice how differently things would have turned out if South had used the diamond Q on the opening lead. But who would be likely to do that?

What tendency must a rapid player curb upon seeing the club 2 lead against his 6-Spades?

Truman Reiterates He Backs Adlai's Speech

ST. LOUIS, March 10 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman reiterated today that he endorsed Adlai E. Stevenson's Miami speech in which he charged the Republican party was divided against itself.

In St. Louis between trains on his way back to his Independence, Mo., home after a trip in the East, Truman made his comment upon learning President Eisenhower at his press conference today had labeled as nonsense Stevenson's statement that the Republican party was "half McCarthy and half Eisenhower."

Card of Thanks

We take this means of expressing our thanks to those of our friends and neighbors who were so sympathetic and helpful during the recent illness and following the death of our beloved husband and father, John R. Clise. We are grateful for the use of cars, to those who sent floral tributes, cards and all others who helped in any way.

Mrs. Charlotte E. Clise & family

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who aided and comforted us in our recent sad bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Bessie Irene Grimes. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral and the Minister, Rev. Frederick A. Eckert for his comforting words.

W. R. Davis and D. F. Davis,
Grandsons and Granddaughters

Steel Issues Outstanding As Stock Market Advances

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP) — Strength in the Stock Market was concentrated in just a few divisions today, and the list as a whole managed only a slight gain.

Steels were outstanding with a buying flurry at higher prices in the afternoon. Throughout the session, there was considerable firmness in aircrafts, radio-televisions, and coppers.

Railroads were lower, and there was a lot of softness in the electrical equuipment and chemical divisions. Otherwise major groups were steady to mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 10 cents at $116.10. That is 20 cents under the 1953-54 peak established in January of last year, a level that has not been exceeded since June of 1930.

The industrial component of the average today gained 30 cents, but the railroads were down 10 cents, and utilities held unchanged.

The list was quite broad—1,195 individual issues. That's the second highest total this year. There was a good margin of gainers—552—as compared with losers—335. Seventy new highs and four new lows for 1953-54 were established.

American Radiator up ¼ at 16⅛ and RKO Theatres unchanged at 5 topped the most active list, each with a volume of 34,500 shares.

Steel Issues Outstanding As Stock Market Advances

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP) — Strength in the Stock Market was concentrated in just a few divisions today, and the list as a whole managed only a slight gain.

Steels were outstanding with a buying flurry at higher prices in the afternoon. Throughout the session, there was considerable firmness in aircrafts, radio-televisions, and coppers.

Railroads were lower, and there was a lot of softness in the electrical equuipment and chemical divisions. Otherwise major groups were steady to mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 10 cents at $116.10. That is 20 cents under the 1953-54 peak established in January of last year, a level that has not been exceeded since June of 1930.

The industrial component of the average today gained 30 cents, but the railroads were down 10 cents, and utilities held unchanged.

The list was quite broad—1,195 individual issues. That's the second highest total this year. There was a good margin of gainers—552—as compared with losers—335. Seventy new highs and four new lows for 1953-54 were established.

American Radiator up ¼ at 16¼ and RKO Theatres unchanged at 5 topped the most active list, each with a volume of 34,500 shares.

C & A Says Rate Hike Needed For Plant-Building

Taxes Hit Hard, Massa Tells PSC

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. told the Public Service Commission today it needs higher rates in Maryland to give it a fair return on its investment and enable it to build necessary additional facilities.

The arguments were presented as the PSC opened hearings on the company's request to boost rates by about $418,000 a year. After payment of state and federal taxes, $198,000 of this would be left for the company, raising its net income by some 16 per cent, the PSC was told.

C. A. Massa, Cumberland & Allegheny vice president, said the firm's return on its investment last year was 3¼ per cent, "considerably below the accepted rate of return."

$3.70 More A Month

He said the biggest share of any increases would be borne by consumers who use natural gas for home heating. This would include about 40 per cent of the firm's 19,000 residential customers in Maryland, he said.

Massa figured they would pay about $3.70 more a month. This still would be cheaper than gas bought from any other Maryland firm, he added.

The other 6 out of 10 customers affected by the increases, said Massa, would pay from one to 2.2 cents more per day than now.

Besides Maryland residential customers, Cumberland and Allegheny also serves about 1,500 business and industrial consumers in this state, as well as 16,500 customers in West Virginia.

Actually, the company's income for federal tax purposes last year was only $32,000, exempting it from the levy altogether, said Massa.

Tax System Questioned

He explained this was possible largely because of such deductible items as losses on unproductive wells and interest paid to Columbia Gas System, Inc., the parent firm.

In response to a question by Joseph Allen, peoples counsel for the PSC, Massa said Cumberland and Allegheny really files no federal income tax return. Its report is included in a master return filed by Columbia for all subsidiaries of the parent company, he said.

Allen, who has raised the same point in similar cases involving such firms as subsidiaries of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., said later he would question this practice.

In some cases, he said, it is possible that the parent firm is charged a lower tax but does not reapportion the savings to its subsidiaries.

Explains Rate Structure

Much of the initial day's hearing was taken up by detailed accounts of how Cumberland and Allegheny determines its relative operating costs in West Virginia and the two Maryland counties it serves, Allegany and Garrett.

Basically, said Massa, this is done by slicing the total plant investment — $14,772,416 — into two parts representing the relative use of facilities to serve Maryland and West Virginia customers.

Since Maryland uses, on the average, 54.29 per cent of the total gas served to the two states, the rate base in this state comes to about $8,300,000.

This is the base, or investment figure, on which the utility is allowed a maximum rate of return as set by law.

No Ruling Till Summer

Massa emphasized that the investment figure presented to the commission was based on the net original cost of the company's facilities at the end of 1953. It did not take into consideration the cost of replacing those facilities at prices which might be higher than the original cost, he said.

Principals in the case said a decision by the PSC could not be expected until mid-summer.

Before Massa testified today A. B. Lauderbaugh, chief engineer, described the company's physical setup in both states.

Scheduled to testify tomorrow are W. H. Wharton, rate analyst for the firm, and F. H. Crissman, treasurer of Columbia Gas System.

GERMAN VISITORS — Two visiting teachers from opposite ends of Germany are pictured as they were welcomed into Cumberland schools yesterday to begin three weeks of observation of the public school system. In the photo at left, Miss Freia Wunderlich (left) is showing Miss Bernice Winner, West Side School principal, where her town of Offenburg in Baden is located on the map of Germany. In the picture at right, Miss Kaete Elise Lorenzen (left) and Mrs. Anna Barncord Higgins, assistant principal of Allegany High School, chat at a cafeteria reception at which Miss Lorenzen met members of the school faculty. Two New Arrivals Observe Education Methods In Cumberland Schools

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Two young women "ambassadors" from Germany made their first visits to public schools in Cumberland yesterday and the initial impressions were that both had made an effective start in their effort to improve relations and understanding between their native land and the United States.

The visitors from Germany who arrived here late Tuesday night for a three-week stay in Cumberland are Miss Kaete Elise Lorenzen and Miss Freia Wunderlick. They are among 108 German teachers, men and women, who came to the United States last September for a seven-month stay in this country.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster some time ago said he thought it was quite an honor that Allegany County should have two of the German teachers here out of only 108 for the entire country. Twelve of the teachers are spending the current period in various places in Maryland.

Both of the young women were interviewed separately yesterday. Because their backgrounds and teaching interests differ the interviews are being treated individually.

Delinquency Curb Efforts Interest Visiting Teacher

"Among other things, I wanted to see what the United States is doing to curb juvenile delinquency," Miss Freia Wunderlich answered when she was asked why she wanted to come to this country from her native Germany to observe the public educational system in this country.

In the course of her observation of public education, Miss Wunderlich will spend the next three weeks in Cumberland's West Side School. She is concentrating on the First Grade because that is the grade she teaches at Offenburg in the south German province of Baden. The visitor is assisting Mrs. Mary Anne Blair in the latter's First Grade class. While here Miss Wunderlich is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Smith, 913 Louisiana Avenue.

Reasons Cited

The visitor from Germany cited a number of reasons why juvenile delinquency is a problem in her province. In the first place, she believes children have too much free time from school. In the beginning grades children attend school only about three hours a day and by the time they reach the eighth grade they still go to school only five hours a day, from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m.

In many homes the mother has been widowed by the war and is forced to get a job to support her family. That means that the children have no parental supervision after they leave school. Because of an influx of refugees from the Russian Zone of East Germany, and industrial expansion, Offenburg has increased from about 18,000 to 25,000 in population. That increase has caused overcrowding so that some families live in a single room.

Undernourishment, started during the war years and continuing for several years afterwards until the currency was re-evaluated, has made a noticeable effect. Miss Wunderlich said she conducted a survey in her school last year and found that 130 of the 156 children enrolled were undernourished.

The visiting elementary teacher added that she also was interested in learning how youngsters in America were taught in the First Grade, including what testing methods were used. She said she was quite surprise to see the school children here being addressed in much the same manner as adults.

Address Differs

In Germany, because of different distinctions in words, the address is different in speaking to children of varying ages. Discipline in the classroom seems to be firmer in her province than in the United States, Miss Wunderlich declared. However, outside the classroom the

Miss Lorenzen Cites Importance Of Rural America

"The fact that rural America is just about as important as industrial America is one of my most vivid impressions of the United States," Miss Kaete Elise Lorenzen said yesterday as she discussed her seven-month stay in this country.

Miss Lorenzen was questioned at the close of a brief social period during which she drank coffee and munched cookies with members of the Allegany High School faculty in the school cafeteria. She will work with the Allegany faculty, visiting many of the classrooms during the next three weeks. She is staying at the home of Mrs. Anna Barncord Higgins, Allegany assistant principal, who resides at 215 Tilghman Street.

Cities Important

"Before I came to the United States last September I had the impression that most of America revolved around such cities as New York, Chicago and Cincinnati," the German visitor observed.

Miss Lorenzen has had plenty of opportunity to see rural America since her arrival in the United States last September 16. After a two-week indoctrination in Washington by the Division of International Education of the Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, she was sent to the University of Kentucky for four months. There she attended classes and seminars and also visited various public school systems in different sections of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

During the month of February she observed public education in the State of Arizona and there, among other things, she absorbed a deep suntan which enhances her attractive appearance.

Miss Lorenzen, who teaches German, English and sports at a high school in Kiel, in the north German province of Schleswig-Holstein, explained that the dominance of the "middle class" in American life also has impressed her. She said she had had the erroneous impression that Americans were either very rich or very poor. Social nobility, which allows a man to advance socially because of his own ability, also was noted by the teacher as a vivid impression.

Americans Hospitable

"The average American is very hospitable, helpful and polite," Miss Lorenzen said diplomatically.

Although both Germany and the United States both seek to make good citizens through the school system, their approaches to the end result are vastly different. Miss Lorenzen said the way that coeducation works in this country is significant. She also believes that the educational system in her pro-

Poultrymen Plan All-Day Meeting Here March 18

University Experts Will Be Speakers

Between 75 and 100 persons are expected to attend an all-day meeting of poultrymen from the Cumberland area at LaVale Fire Hall March 18.

County Agent Ralph F. McHenry said yesterday 40 persons already have made reservations for the meeting and luncheon.

Although the meeting is intended primarily to bring Allegany County poultrymen together, said McHenry, interested poultry producers in other sections of Western Maryland and in West Virginia and Pennsylvania are welcome to attend.

The county agent said he is particularly interested in getting a good attendance of women who are interested in managing poultry flocks.

Sessions will start at 10 a. m., and a free plate luncheon will be served between the morning and afternoon discussions.

Speakers will be W. H. Rice, poultry specialist at the University of Maryland; Dr. J. E. Hanley of the Maryland Livestock Sanitary Laboratory at Bel Air, and Harold Hoecker of the University of Maryland.

Rice will talk on "Essentials for an Efficient Farm Laying Flock for Maryland Farms" and "Egg Quality—How It Is Determined and Things Producers Can Do to Control It."

Dr. Hanley will discuss "Common Poultry Diseases Caused by Bacteria—Especially Cholera, Typhoid and Pullorum" and "Common Respiratory Diseases of Poultry — Especially Infectious Bronchitis, New Castle and Air Sac Infections."

Hoecker will talk on "The 1954 Outlook for Eggs, Broilers and Turkeys."

Joseph M. Steger, assistant county agent, will show a motion picture on some phase of poultry production.

Interstate Legal Action Seen In Mine Waste Issue

Maryland May Sue Pennsylvania

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—The shoe was on the other foot today and Maryland was talking about suing Pennsylvania over a plan to discharge waste mine water into Chesapeake Bay.

Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins, announcing "the possibility of legal action," disclosed that only last year Pennsylvania was talking about suing Maryland in a similar case.

That one involved acid mine waste water carried into Pennsylvania by the Youghiogeny River. The river flows north into Pennsylvania through Maryland. Its source is in West Virginia.

The Maryland attorney general said Atty. Gen. Robert E. Woodside of Pennsylvania wrote last Aug. 15, that sportsmen in the Keystone State had recommended court action against Maryland and West Virginia to correct the pollution in the Youghiogeny.

Rollins Sends Answer

The Southwest Division of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs suggested that "present laws and federal decisions will give (Pennsylvania) every chance of success," Rollins quoted Woodside.

Rollins said Maryland then studied the river conditions, found that West Virginia mine owners were responsible, and wrote Pennsylvania that the Free State would be a plaintiff, rather than defendant, in any court action resulting from the situation.

Floods Threaten Mines

The Maryland attorney general added that his office now is studying legal action to prevent Pennsylvania from pumping its waste mine water into Chesapeake Bay. The U. S. Bureau of Mines suggested this pumping last week as a means of preventing floods which threaten to wipe out Pennsylvania's anthracite coal industry.

Maryland lawmakers immediately took issue with the bureau's explanation that acid in the mine water would be neutralized in little time and would not affect the bay's fish and wildlife resources.

"The State will do everything in its power to prevent such pollution being visited upon Maryland waters," said Rollins.

County Woman Obtains Parole In Murder Case

Margaret Ellen Gray of North Branch, who was sentenced to a term not to exceed 12 years in the Maryland Reformatory for Women on a charge of second-degree murder, was paroled last month, according to an announcement yesterday by the State Parole Board.

The Gray woman, then 39, in October 1951, pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the death of her common-law husband. Niles Jennings Michael, 50. He was fatally shot August 2, 1951, in a lock house along the old C & O Canal.

Her court-appointed lawyers were Estel C. Kelley and Noel Speir Cook. She had served about 28 months.

Prompt Hospital Action Favored By Grand Jury

Garrett Co. Body Makes Suggestions

A recommendation that every official be encouraged to work for the prompt completion of the addition to Garrett County Memorial Hospital at Oakland was featured in the report of the Grand Jury for the March term of Garrett County Circuit Court submitted yesterday.

Olonzo P. Fike of Accident was foreman of the Grand Jury.

In its report the Grand Jury also urged that local labor be used whenever possible and feasible in the construction of the hospital addition.

More Office Space

To give County Treasurer G. Harold Yutzy more room in his office at the Court House, the Grand Jury endorsed a plan to provide different type furniture and filing cabinets which would fill less space. The Grand Jury observed that Yutzy collects county taxes and also issues license tags in Garrett County.

The Grand Jury commented the County Commissioners for installing new tile floors in the offices of the clerk of Circuit Court, Orphans Court and the County Commissioners but urged that similar flooring be added in the office of the Board of Election Supervisors and two rooms in the Board of Education facilities at the Court House.

Cleanup Urged

Better "housekeeping" around the Court House in Oakland also got the endorsement of the Grand Jury. Dirty windows and torn blinds were cited in particular. It was urged that additional labor be hired, if necessary, to get the work done.

The Grand Jury also reiterated a prior recommendation that Sheriff Paul W. Fisher receive more than 80 cents a day per prisoner to feed inmates of the County Jail.

State's Attorney W. Dwight Stover said that seven indictments were returned by the Grand Jury in three days of deliberations.

Melvin Arrested On Illegal Sale Of Intoxicants

Local authorities have arrested a second Cumberland resident in two days on a charge of the illegal sale of intoxicating beverages.

Yesterday at 5 p. m. Joseph M. Melvin, 519 Virginia Avenue, was taken into custody by Lt. James E. Van and Detective Leo E. P. Law of the City Police Detective Bureau and was booked for violation of Section 1, Chapter 10, of the City Code.

Mrs. Eva Shaffer, 12 North Mechanic Street, was picked up Tuesday evening on a similar charge and was released under $200 bond for a hearing yesterday morning.

Melvin's bond was set at $300 and he was lodged in City Jail last night. He was picked up on a city warrant after a number of persons signed statements that they had been sold intoxicating beverages.

A hearing is set for Monday at 9 a. m. at Police Headquarters.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Shaffer forfeited $200 bond when she failed to appear in Police Court for trial on a charge of selling intoxicants without a license.

Several unsuccessful attempts were made to locate the defendant before Magistrate J. Milton Dick docketed the forfeiture.

Mrs. Shaffer was arrested Tuesday evening by Van and Law. Authorities stated two persons had signed statements saying they had purchased intoxicants from the woman.

Detective Law said eight bottles of beer were involved in the case.

Shooting Victim Is Still Critical

Bruce Teter, 29, of Cherry Grove, W. Va., remained in critical condition last night at Memorial General Hospital, Elkins, where he was admitted Monday night after shooting himself and two other persons in a restaurant there.

C & A Says Rate Hike Needed For Plant-Building

Taxes Hit Hard, Massa Tells PSC

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. told the Public Service Commission today it needs higher rates in Maryland to give it a fair return on its investment and enable it to build necessary additional facilities.

The arguments were presented as the PSC opened hearings on the company's request to boost rates by about $418,000 a year. After payment of state and federal taxes, $198,000 of this would be left for the company, raising its net income by some 16 per cent, the PSC was told.

C. A. Massa, Cumberland & Allegheny vice president, said the firm's return on its investment last year was 3¼ per cent, "considerably below the accepted rate of return."

$3.70 More A Month

He said the biggest share of any increases would be borne by consumers who use natural gas for home heating. This would include about 40 per cent of the firm's 19,000 residential customers in Maryland, he said.

Massa figured they would pay about $3.70 more a month. This still would be cheaper than gas bought from any other Maryland firm, he added.

The other 6 out of 10 customers affected by the increases, said Massa, would pay from one to 2.2 cents more per day than now.

Besides Maryland residential customers, Cumberland and Allegheny also serves about 1,500 business and industrial consumers in this state, as well as 16,500 customers in West Virginia.

Actually, the company's income for federal tax purposes last year was only $32,000, exempting it from the levy altogether, said Massa.

Tax System Questioned

He explained this was possible largely because of such deductible items as losses on unproductive wells and interest paid to Columbia Gas System, Inc., the parent firm.

In response to a question by Joseph Allen, peoples counsel for the PSC, Massa said Cumberland and Allegheny really files no federal income tax return. Its report is included in a master return filed by Columbia for all subsidiaries of the parent company, he said.

Allen, who has raised the same point in similar cases involving such firms as subsidiaries of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., said later he would question this practice.

In some cases, he said, it is possible that the parent firm is charged a lower tax but does not reapportion the savings to its subsidiaries.

Explains Rate Structure

Much of the initial day's hearing was taken up by detailed accounts of how Cumberland and Allegheny determines its relative operating costs in West Virginia and the two Maryland counties it serves, Allegany and Garrett.

Basically, said Massa, this is done by slicing the total plant investment — $14,772,416 — into two parts representing the relative use of facilities to serve Maryland and West Virginia customers.

Since Maryland uses, on the average, 54.29 per cent of the total gas served to the two states, the rate base in this state comes to about $8,300,000.

This is the base, or investment figure, on which the utility is allowed a maximum rate of return as set by law.

No Ruling Till Summer

Massa emphasized that the investment figure presented to the commission was based on the net original cost of the company's facilities at the end of 1953. It did not take into consideration the cost of replacing those facilities at prices which might be higher than the briginal cost, he said.

Principals in the case said a decision by the PSC could not be expected until mid-summer.

Before Massa testified today A. B. Lauderbaugh, chief engineer, described the company's physical setup in both states.

Scheduled to testify tomorrow are W. H. Wharton, rate analyst for the firm, and F. H. Crissman, treasurer of Columbia Gas System.

Two New Arrivals Observe Education Methods In Cumberland Schools

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Two young women "ambassadors" from Germany made their first visits to public schools in Cumberland yesterday and the initial impressions were that both had made an effective start in their effort to improve relations and understanding between their native land and the United States.

The visitors from Germany who arrived here late Tuesday night for a three-week stay in Cumberland are Miss Kaete Elise Lorenzen and Miss Freia Wunderlick. They are among 108 German teachers, men and women, who came to the United States last September for a seven-month stay in this country.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster some time ago said he thought it was quite an honor that Allegany County should have two of the German teachers here out of only 108 for the entire country. Twelve of the teachers are spending the current period in various places in Maryland.

Both of the young women were interviewed separately yesterday. Because their backgrounds and teaching interests differ the interviews are being treated individually.

Delinquency Curb Efforts Interest Visiting Teacher

"Among other things, I wanted to see what the United States is doing to curb juvenile delinquency," Miss Freia Wunderlich answered when she was asked why she wanted to come to this country from her native Germany to observe the public educational system in this country.

In the course of her observation of public education, Miss Wunderlich will spend the next three weeks in Cumberland's West Side School. She is concentrating on the First Grade because that is the grade she teaches at Offenburg in the south German province of Baden. The visitor is assisting Mrs. Mary Anne Blair in the latter's First Grade class. While here Miss Wunderlich is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Smith, 913 Louisiana Avenue.

Reasons Cited

The visitor from Germany cited a number of reasons why juvenile delinquency is a problem in her province. In the first place, she believes children have too much free time from school. In the beginning grades children attend school only about three hours a day and by the time they reach the eighth grade they still go to school only five hours a day, from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m.

In many homes the mother has been widowed by the war and is forced to get a job to support her family. That means that the children have no parental supervision after they leave school. Because of an influx of refugees from the Russian Zone of East Germany, and industrial expansion, Offenburg has increased from about 18,000 to 25,000 in population. That increase has caused overcrowding so that some families live in a single room.

Undernourishment, started during the war years and continuing for several years afterwards until the currency was re-evaluated, has made a noticeable effect. Miss Wunderlich said she conducted a survey in her school last year and found that 130 of the 156 children enrolled were undernourished.

The visiting elementary teacher added that she also was interested in learning how youngsters in America were taught in the First Grade, including what testing methods were used. She said she was quite surprise to see the school children here being addressed in much the same manner as adults.

Address Differs

In Germany, because of different distinctions in words, the address is different in speaking to children of varying ages. Discipline in the classroom seems to be firmer in her province than in the United States, Miss Wunderlich declared. However, outside the classroom the

Miss Lorenzen Cites Importance Of Rural America

"The fact that rural America is just about as important as industrial America is one of my most vivid impressions of the United States," Miss Kaete Elise Lorenzen said yesterday as she discussed her seven-month stay in this country.

Miss Lorenzen was questioned at the close of a brief social period during which she drank coffee and munched cookies with members of the Allegany High School faculty in the school cafeteria. She will work with the Allegany faculty, visiting many of the classrooms during the next three weeks. She is staying at the home of Mrs. Anna Barncord Higgins, Allegany assistant principal, who resides at 215 Tilghman Street.

Cities Important

"Before I came to the United States last September I had the impression that most of America revolved around such cities as New York, Chicago and Cincinnati," the German visitor observed.

Miss Lorenzen has had plenty of opportunity to see rural America since her arrival in the United States last September 16. After a two-week indoctrination in Washington by the Division of International Education of the Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, she was sent to the University of Kentucky for four months. There she attended classes and seminars and also visited various public school systems in different sections of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

During the month of February she observed public education in the State of Arizona and there, among other things, she absorbed a deep suntan which enhances her attractive appearance.

Miss Lorenzen, who teaches German, English and sports at a high school in Kiel, in the north German province of Schleswig-Holstein, explained that the dominance of the "middle class" in American life also has impressed her. She said she had had the erroneous impression that Americans were either very rich or very poor. Social nobility, which allows a man to advance socially because of his own ability, also was noted by the teacher as a vivid impression.

Americans Hospitable

"The average American is very hospitable, helpful and polite," Miss Lorenzen said diplomatically.

Although both Germany and the United States both seek to make good citizens through the school system, their approaches to the end result are vastly different. Miss Lorenzen said the way that coeducation works in this country is significant. She also believes that the educational system in her pro-

Interstate Legal Action Seen In Mine Waste Issue

Maryland May Sue Pennsylvania

BALTIMORE, March 10 (AP)—The shoe was on the other foot today and Maryland was talking about suing Pennsylvania over a plan to discharge waste mine water into Chesapeake Bay.

Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins, announcing "the possibility of legal action," disclosed that only last year Pennsylvania was talking about suing Maryland in a similar case.

That one involved acid mine waste water carried into Pennsylvania by the Youghiogeny River. The river flows north into Pennsylvania through Maryland. Its source is in West Virginia.

The Maryland attorney general said Atty. Gen. Robert E. Woodside of Pennsylvania wrote last Aug. 15, that sportsmen in the Keystone State had recommended court action against Maryland and West Virginia to correct the pollution in the Youghiogeny.

Rollins Sends Answer

The Southwest Division of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs suggested that "present laws and federal decisions will give (Pennsylvania) every chance of success," Rollins quoted Woodside.

Rollins said Maryland then studied the river conditions, found that West Virginia mine owners were responsible, and wrote Pennsylvania that the Free State would be a plaintiff, rather than defendant, in any court action resulting from the situation.

Floods Threaten Mines

The Maryland attorney general added that his office now is studying legal action to prevent Pennsylvania from pumping its waste mine water into Chesapeake Bay. The U. S. Bureau of Mines suggested this pumping last week as a means of preventing floods which threaten to wipe out Pennsylvania's anthracite coal industry.

Maryland lawmakers immediately took issue with the bureau's explanation that acid in the mine water would be neutralized in little time and would not affect the bay's fish and wildlife resources.

"The State will do everything in its power to prevent such pollution being visited upon Maryland waters," said Rollins.

Prompt Hospital Action Favored By Grand Jury

Garrett Co. Body Makes Suggestions

A recommendation that every official be encouraged to work for the prompt completion of the addition to Garrett County Memorial Hospital at Oakland was featured in the report of the Grand Jury for the March term of Garrett County Circuit Court submitted yesterday.

Olonzo P. Fike of Accident was foreman of the Grand Jury.

In its report the Grand Jury also urged that local labor be used whenever possible and feasible in the construction of the hospital addition.

More Office Space

To give County Treasurer G. Harold Yutzy more room in his office at the Court House, the Grand Jury endorsed a plan to provide different type furniture and filing cabinets which would fill less space. The Grand Jury observed that Yutzy collects county taxes and also issues license tags in Garrett County.

The Grand Jury commented the County Commissioners for installing new tile floors in the offices of the clerk of Circuit Court, Orphans Court and the County Commissioners but urged that similar flooring be added in the office of the Board of Election Supervisors and two rooms in the Board of Education facilities at the Court House.

Cleanup Urged

Better "housekeeping" around the Court House in Oakland also got the endorsement of the Grand Jury. Dirty windows and torn blinds were cited in particular. It was urged that additional labor be hired, if necessary, to get the work done.

The Grand Jury also reiterated a prior recommendation that Sheriff Paul W. Fisher receive more than 80 cents a day per prisoner to feed inmates of the County Jail.

State's Attorney W. Dwight Stover said that seven indictments were returned by the Grand Jury in three days of deliberations.

Melvin Arrested On Illegal Sale Of Intoxicants

Local authorities have arrested a second Cumberland resident in two days on a charge of the illegal sale of intoxicating beverages.

Yesterday at 5 p. m. Joseph M. Melvin, 519 Virginia Avenue, was taken into custody by Lt. James E. Van and Detective Leo E. P. Law of the City Police Detective Bureau and was booked for violation of Section 1, Chapter 10, of the City Code.

Mrs. Eva Shaffer, 12 North Mechanic Street, was picked up Tuesday evening on a similar charge and was released under $200 bond for a hearing yesterday morning.

Melvin's bond was set at $300 and he was lodged in City Jail last night. He was picked up on a city warrant after a number of persons signed statements that they had been sold intoxicating beverages.

A hearing is set for Monday at 9 a. m. at Police Headquarters.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Shaffer forfeited $200 bond when she failed to appear in Police Court for trial on a charge of selling intoxicants without a license.

Several unsuccessful attempts were made to locate the defendant before Magistrate J. Milton Dick docketed the forfeiture.

Mrs. Shaffer was arrested Tuesday evening by Van and Law. Authorities stated two persons had signed statements saying they had purchased intoxicants from the woman.

Detective Law said eight bottles of beer were involved in the case.

Shooting Victim Is Still Critical

In fair condition at the same hospital is Paul Eugene Regester, 23, Elkins, with whom he had argued over a sum of money. He was struck in the right arm by four bullets.

Ten-year-old Maxine Louella Griffith, Elkins, who was in the restaurant at the time of the wild shooting melee, received emergency hospital treatment for a bullet in the side. She was released.
